PREFACE

The Locke Genealogy, like most family histories, was first started out of a curiosity, which finally led to duty; curiosity to learn who and what was our family; duty to preserve that which was going so rapidly by the deaths of those older ones whose early days, sitting in the home circle, were filled with local and family events, which became memorized, and so were handed down to us. It was and is this class which has made genealogies possible, supplying us with facts not contained in the early meager town records, and happening before the present careless town statistics were inaugurated.

Thus the work was started in college days, and continued during a busy life, yet a life which gave me access to all the large libraries of the country, and its only drawback was lack of opportunity to travel and thus be able to solve some problems which no correspondence could accomplish. I could boast a few years ago that every genealogy or local history published up to that time and contained in the larger libraries had been carefully scrutinized, and this review of several thousand books has given me data concerning unknown Lockes which with index would fill fifty pages of this work; rather too much to incorporate here, though a few New Hampshire items are inserted in hopes that some may be recognized and properly connected before forgotten.

The Locke Family Association, even if in its twenty-five years of life has not realized its intention of greatly helping the writer, yet has been of the utmost importance in getting the Lockes together from all over the country, has advertised the fact that a genealogy was being prepared, and this alone puts the blame for any omissions or manifest errors on the Lockes themselves. Thousands of letters have gone out seeking information, and every effort has been made to keep the data as correct as conflicting town records, tombstone inscriptions, and imperfect memory would allow. In looking back I can see where other duties with consequent interruptions have marred the work somewhat, and fear of too bulky a volume caused me to sacrifice smoothness to brevity, but I have no apologies to offer under the circumstances. Much thought has been given to a permanent rag paper with the result of doubling the usual cost of the one item.

I am under great obligation to many people for their help in the work and trust the completion of it in their lifetime may be some recompense to them. "The Book of Lockes," by John G. Locke of Boston, 1853, has been of great assistance to me. Although almost wholly confined to the Massachusetts family, yet he collected and preserved much of interest to our family and in the later pages of this book I have copied in toto what he collected of our common Locke history in England.

All unknown items in my possession and all additions and corrections, which I trust may be sent to me, will in time be indexed and deposited with the New Hampshire Historical Society, Concord, N. H., for preservation and inspection.

Some of the oldest Lockes in my memory, now long departed, have been quite insistent that we were related to the famous John Locke, a very laudable ambition and tradition, but the English records are so very incomplete, that while some American families have tried to prove this idea, not much foundation exists at present for such pretence. A statement made a few years ago in England was: "It would take a regiment ten years to copy the church and town records."

I have made no distinction as to spelling Lock or Locke, and have used the latter entirely. I have no doubt those who spell their name Loch were originally of English descent, as those whom I have interviewed seem to think, but the line is far removed from any of the New England Lockes.

About the year 1726, the present town of Rye was set off from New Castle, Portsmouth and Hampton, nine tenths being from the first town. This will explain the apparent confusion of names.

I find Lockes among the earliest Dutch settlers of New York city, a family settled in New Jersey, one in Virginia, another in North Carolina, all quite as old in time of settlement as William of Massachusetts or John of New Hampshire. Some of our own missing branches lived in Chenango and Orleans Counties, New York, and Branch County, Michigan. Many other Lockes have settled in the country since 1800.

To quote from "The Book of Lockes": "I do not offer you a history of high dignitaries in Church or State, or valiant warriors who have won renown at the head of armies. Mine is the history of the yeomanry and artisan; of those who have earned their bread on their farms and in their workshops by the sweat of their brow; and if they performed well their part in their station—however humble it may have been,—they are not to be despised,—but honored.

"I have labored to rescue from oblivion the names of those who have gone before us, to record their virtues, and to place landmarks where they resided; that those of us who are now on the stage, and those that come after us, may answer the question—Who was your father?"

ABBREVIATIONS

When no state is mentioned, New Hampshire is understood. The usual abbreviations: b., bapt., m., unm., d., signifying born, baptized, married, unmarried, died, are used throughout the book. The sign ? is used where doubt exists. Parenthesis () are used where necessary also to distinguish maiden names.

ARRANGEMENT

Every descendant has an individual number beginning with Captain John, those having children have F before the number and this number, in heavy type in consecutive order, forms the heads for the succeeding generation.

Reversing the process, to find ancestors: having found the name in the index, take the heavy type number at head of that family and go back to that number, and so follow heads back to Captain John, who is F. 1.

ADDRESS OF JUDGE JAMES W. LOCKE

ON THE OCCASION OF THE DEDICATION AUG. 27, 1902, OF THE MONUMENT ILLUSTRATED ON THE OPPOSITE PAGE.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Members of the Locke Family Association:

More than two centuries ago, our common ancestor was snatched from life near this spot, by the hands of members of that race which before the march of civilization was slowly disappearing. The vigor and force with which he had been wont to protect his family and home, had called down upon him the antagonism of his enemies, and his bravery was now overcome by the cunning of the savage, and overwhelming numbers, and after a most gallant fight with the only instrument at hand, that not even a weapon of war but an emblem of peace, he yielded to the inevitable. If we are to credit the records, both written and traditional, we may believe that he had lived a life of energetic action and forcible achievement. Of toil and labor, of hardship, exposure and discomforts inseparable from the life of a first settler in a wild and savage country he had his share; but we may also believe that he had been, as a man, a leader among men, and left a name, that within the small circle in which he moved was not without honor. His life was a long and eventful one; he had reached his three score years and ten and had unquestionably seen the results of his labors commencing to turn the wilderness to a land of families and settled homes, in place of the wandering tribes of Red Men. His death was one of the many sacrifices which is continuously being demanded by the advance of races and the change of conditions, the advance of civilization and the establishment of new nations.

The contest waged with the original occupants of the soil was on each side but a strife for self preservation in which the weaker had to succumb and the stronger to succeed. But what the final result of these individual sacrifices has been in the great aggregate, the present condition of our nation clearly shows.

Little could Capt. John Locke perceive, think or even dream, two hundred and six years ago yesterday of the final result that was to flow from the efforts of himself and those like him in their efforts to make for themselves homes in the new world. How little could he conceive with even the dimmest imagining to what a grand result the little seed that he was planting was to grow. Yet it is to be believed that in everything he did his present duty to the best of his understanding and knowledge.

Let us imagine if we can the circumstances of that time; the, to him, eventful day, the surroundings of that tragic ending of the life of the old man upon whose head the snows of seventy winters then rested. Undoubtedly the sun shone with a splendor equal to that of to-day; the blue of the old ocean was as vivid, and the ripples of its waves upon the pebbly beach as musical as at the present. But the shades of the primeval forests surrounded the little clearing where the small house and outbuildings were standing as sentries, and as an advanced guard to the coming civilization.

Vigorously the sickle was plied in the waving corn until the large boulder against which leaned the faithful musket was left at a distance, and in the joy and satisfaction of a well earned harvest the brightness of nature was only thought of and danger forgotten. But unnoticed and slowly and softly with the stealthy step of the beast of prey, dark forms came slowly gliding out from the forest shades and concealed behind the stumps and dead, although standing trees, got between him and his only weapon of defense, when, with a war-whoop, which even then sounded of victory, they rushed upon their victim.

The contest was too unequal; the strife determined from the beginning by a force too great to be overcome; and he who had fought his last fight and won his last battle, struggling to the last with his sickle's blade, yielded at length to the deadly arrow and tomahawk. But he had already done his work. He had acted well his part in planting the seed for a magnificent nation. If it is true that

"To the hero when his sword has won the battle for the free
Death's voice comes like a prophet's word
And in its hollow tones are heard,
The voice of millions yet to be:"

may we not believe in his last moments he felt that his life had not been in vain? and from his duties well done there might in the providence of an All-wise Ruler be fruits and rewards to the coming generations?

Could it be that there might have been with a prophetic glimpse a flash of coming events; of the heights of Bunker Hill and Ticonderoga, the sufferings of Valley Forge, the glories of Saratoga and Yorktown, of Gettysburg, of Vicksburg, of Look-out Mountain and Missionary Ridge, and later the swamps and mountains of the Philippines, in all of which his descendants would take up the life of the pioneer in carrying civilization into the new places of the earth, as they might have, might not his last moments have been like the glory of a setting sun after a day of clouds and darkness?

Here, therefore, come we to-day to dedicate to the memory of Capt. John Locke a humble token of our consideration and relationship. We attempt no grand or expensive column, no beautiful or ornate mausoleum, but a simple block as evidence of our appreciation of the fair record of a life of duty well performed and honorably ended; of a name which has been handed down to us unsullied by him who first bore it in this land. We are well aware that this simple tribute can add nothing to the memory of the departed or the value of his example.

The lives of his descendants have and will determine whether they have been true or recreant to the principles of right living, of honest, energetic action which made him favorably known among his neighbors and associates.

But may it, firmly fixed on its foundations as it is, be to us a suggestion that our lives and actions, examples and influences, do not cease with our parting breath but will live for the encouragement or regret of coming generations even as is now the memories of the life of our common ancestor an inspiration to higher living and nobler achievements!

SKETCH OF CAPTAIN JOHN LOCKE

In writing the history of John Locke, the progenitor of the Lockes in New Hampshire, and some of the oldest families of that name in Rhode Island, New York, and Nova Scotia, we have some records, more tradition, and much circumstantial evidence. A most careful search of published English records gives us nothing more than that found in Savage's Genealogical Dictionary (an American work of inestimable value), and the London White Chapel Register. See History of English Lockes on later pages. This register shows us that Thomas Locke of London, married Christena French, July 26, 1624, and they had sons, John, baptized Sept. 16, 1627, and Nathaniel, baptized Nov. 11, 1629. Assuming that John and Nathaniel Locke of Portsmouth, N. H., were brothers, and taking into account their ages, we have no other recourse at present than to accept it as very probable that these were the sons of Thomas of London, recorded above. Possibly time will bring to light further proof or give us welcome facts on other lines.

In 1620, during the reign of James I, the religious and political persecutions drove the Puritans from England and forced them to find a home on foreign shores, and this emigration continued for a long period and in constantly increasing numbers. To stop this drain on his kingdom, Charles I ordered every person emigrating to take the oath of supremacy and allegiance, and this had two effects. One was, that all who took the oath were thus privileged in having their names, time of sailing, and, in many cases, their place of birth, age, and occupation, recorded in the office. On the other hand, hundreds refusing to sign away their independence were forced to sail surreptitiously leaving no trace behind, and so their first movement was recorded on American shores. Our own John Locke was undoubtedly one of the latter, and perhaps came to these shores in one of those hundred ships, which we are told touched the New England coast between Salem and Portland, in the years 1630-1640 and of which we have no record.

The family tradition from the very earliest times is that John Locke came from Yorkshire, England, and settled in New Hampshire about the years 1638-1644; that "at first he settled in Dover where he owned a right of land"; that from thence he moved to Fort Point, New Castle, and about the year 1652 married Elizabeth the daughter of William Berry, who was probably the first settler in Hampton at a place called Sandy Beach, now in Rye. From New Castle Mr. Locke moved to Sagamore Creek where he lived until 1665, when he went to Hampton, now Rye, N. H. The early records of Dover have nothing to corroborate the above first statement. The Selectmen of Portsmouth, in 1652, started a new town record, copying only a few items from an older book covering the years 1623-1651, the oldest book of the colony, which is now lost, and so any possible clue that might interest us is forever gone.

The Portsmouth records do, however, mention him as follows: "And likewise John Locke is to have a house lott between John Jacksons and William Cotton's rails, the lott eight acres. At a town meeting held this first day of Januarie, 1656." At a meeting Jan. 22, 1660, "John Locke having eight acres, to have eight more"; and the same year there was laid out to him "eight acres from Stony Brooke towards John Jones, 24 pole wide and 40 pole back into the woods, upon a south west line." Tradition tells us that John Locke framed the first meeting house in Portsmouth, and probably the first in New Hampshire about 1645. The specifications read: "The meeting house to be made 40 ffeet square with 12 windowes well fitted, 3 substanciall doers and a complete pulpit." It was ordered built, Aug. 27, 1657, as given in "Historic Portsmouth." The date must be wrong as the seats were ordered in 1654. This church stood south of Pickering's Dam (now South Mill Bridge), at the junction of South and Marcy Streets, and was removed about 1750. It is barely possible that the town took the above means to pay this young man for his work by granting him the eight acres in the southern part of Portsmouth.

The first grant of eight acres in 1656 bears out the tradition of his living at Sagamore Creek, since it was very close to that locality, being in reality on the present Little Harbor road, on the side of hill just east of the new brick Memorial Church, and overlooking the city of Portsmouth, of which it is a part. See enclosed plan. Evidently he did not live here long, as shown by the following sale.

“Be it known unto all men by these presents that I, John Lock of Portsmouth, on Piscataqs river, Carpenter & Elizabeth my wife for and in consideration of the sum of Thirty two pounds 10 s. to us in hand before the engaging hereof, by James Drew of the same place marrynor, do . . . sell unto the said James Drew my new dwelling house . . . therewith eight acres of uplands on which the said house stands and is situate, and being between ye lands of John Jones on the West northly & ye lands of John Jackson on the East Southerly. Said lands of eight acres be it more or less was given & granted me the said Lock by the Town of Portsmouth, as may appear by the sd Towns grant & record of the bounds when it was laid out. All the said premises with the appurtenances of same which belonging to ye sd Locke & Elizabeth my wife . . . unto the sd Drew & his heirs etc. . . furthermore whereas there is a piece of marsh in disspute between me the sd Jno Lock & Wm. Cotton; I ye sd Jno. Lock & Elizabeth my wife do include in the sd forementioned bargain, if either ye sd Lock or ye sd Drew can recourus of ye hand of the sd Cotton, & ye sd Lock do hereby promise to do all in my power for the attainment of the same etc. . . , in witness thereof his hand & seal & deliver the 23 day of March 1660-61.”

“Jno X Lock

Elizabeth X Lock

I am convinced also that the grant of 1660 was near the first grant if not adjacent, and this he sold long after he went to Locke's Neck, Hampton, as shown by the sale to his late neighbor Cotton with whom he had the dispute over the marsh land.

“John Lock of Portsmouth, carpenter & wife Elizabeth, sold to William Cotton eight acres land to be layd out in Portsmouth, as appears in town book Sept. 8, 1674.” John acknowledged the sale, March 26, 1675.

I should judge that this dispute over marsh land was not settled since it appears in John's estate in 1707, and again later according to these transfers. “Shadrack Walton of New Castle sold John Dennett of Portsmouth, 3 acres of salt marsh in Little Harbor bounded by Mark Hunking's marsh on the south side and Jno. Locke's on the north side, and by the main brook on the east side, dated; Dec. 12, 1693." This marsh was later transferred in August and November 1709; Jno. Lock's marsh being mentioned on the north side.

"Jno. Lock & Daniel Thomas having Edward Colcord committed to them for keeping & Letting him go in the night, are fined 2-6 apiece & are enjoyned to do their utmost to gott him again; if they do, are to be released from their fines otherwise to pay as above. 1662." Could it be possible that Edward bribed his jailors? At any rate there is no mention that they "gott" him.

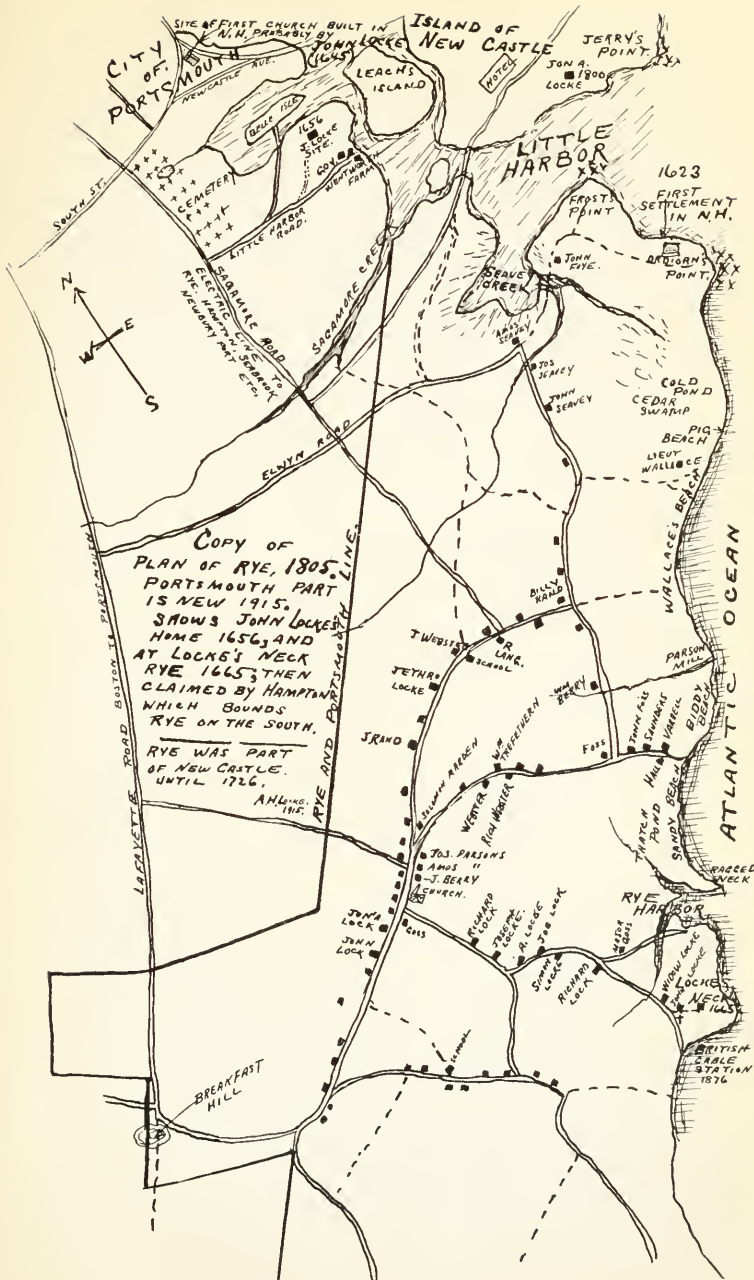

At a town meeting in Portsmouth March 8, 1665-6, John Locke subscribed 5 shillings for the support of the minister, Mr. Moody. The town record also has in the same year:

"Capt. Locke was fined 5," whether shillings or pounds, or for what is not stated. Note the official record calls him Captain.

"The names of such who took the oath of fidelity ye 2nd. of Oct., 1666, upon ye Election of Military officers; Jno Lock." "A noate drawne on Hen. Dering, Constable, to pay Jno Lock 12 s: dated Oct. 26, 1671."

These items all go to show that while he was living at Joselyn's or Locke's Neck at this time, having moved there before 1665, he considered, and Portsmouth considered that he was within the latter's jurisdiction. Hampton took a different view of the matter and the town records show they acted accordingly.

"He sat down (squatted hence the word 'Squatter') on the public lands at Josselyn's Neck" and began clearing a farm without saying "by your leave," and as the inhabitants claimed the right of saying who should be citizens of the town, they chose a committee May 24, 1666, to pull up his fence and March 12, 1667, to warn him to desist from improving the town land and to notify him "that the town is displeased with his building there." Complaint was made against him as a "Trespasser" and he was warned to appear at the next meeting and give an account of himself. On the 8th of March 1667 the town voted: "Upon the motion of John Lock who desireth to yield himself to the town of Hampton as an inhabitant here amongst us, being already settled upon Josselyn's Neck in Hampton bounds, the town hath accepted of the said John Lock for an inhabitant accordingly." So John Locke from being the first squatter became an inhabitant of Hampton, now Rye, N. H., and here he continued to live until his death.

Joselyn's Neck became Locke's Neck and so continued for two hundred years, in fact today it is equally as well known as by the newer name Straw's Point, a name given because Governor Straw bought much of the land and erected many houses upon it.

These depositions of his neighbors are interesting as fixing his residence, and landmarks.

"The Deposition of George Hunt aged 35 years testifieth and saith that Living with John Lock of Hampton and that I being then a Servant with him, that I Did help fence the neck of Land called Joselyn's neck thirteen year agoe (1667), and did help fence the marsh belonging to the neck twelve year agoe and further saith not. Taken upon Oath Sept. 1st. 1680."

"Nathaniel Drake aged 68, and John Goss aged 46, and John Berry aged 43, "Testifieth and saith that John Lock hath enjoyed ye neck of Land commonly called Josliens neck fifteen years or thereabouts peacably and had it in fence moste part if not all the time above said, and further we testify that the marsh in Controversy between Francis Jinins and Said Lock is within said Lock's fence as above said which he made near fifteen years ago (1665). Taken under oath Sept. 8, 1680."

"John Brackett aged 39 years testifieth that fourteen or fifteen years ago (1665) I helped John Lock fence a corn field at a place called Joslien's neck and since I have seen a fence at the head of the neck where the cattle used to come over. Sworn to Sept. 7, 1680."

"John Lock aged about 75, and John Foss aged about 69, testifieth that they have known the great Pond in Rye known by name as Sandy Beach Pond to have been fenced and in possession of John Lock formerly of Hampton deceased and William Berry of Portsmouth, disceased, for 60 years (1668), and fence enclosed meadows all around on back side and ends running down to the sea, and has been possessed by their descendants since. Sworn to, Feb. 5, 1728-9."

In 1672 John Lock was a witness to a land claim of Nathaniel Wallis of Casco, Me. He served on the jury in Portsmouth, Nov. 6, 1683, in the trial, "Proprietor Mason versus Vaughan." (He perhaps heard there why the early colonial record was destroyed.)

Either John Locke Sr. or Jr. was a witness to Anthony Brackett's will in 1691, and Anthony was killed by Indians that same year. John Locke's province tax rate of 1693, was 3 pounds, charged to New Castle but paid in Hampton; his son John's tax was 2 pounds.

There seems to be some discrepancy in the date as to when John Locke died. According to Hampton records:

"John Locke Senior was killed by the Heathen in his lott at work upon August 26 1696." In the Rev. Huntington Porter's address delivered in Rye Jan. 1 1801, he says "In 1694 (it should be 1696), John Locke being at the Neck was ambushed and killed by the Indians as he was reaping grain in his field."

Undoubtedly the most reliable report is that contained in Reverend John Pike's Journals 1678 to 1709. Written by a divine living in those years, and shepherd of those early settlers, surely he could not be more than a day wrong as compared with the Hampton record. He writes: "Lieut. Lock was slain by the Indians at Sandy Beach, Aug. 25, 1696." It will be noted that this is the second time a title is given to John Locke, and this time by one who wrote advisedly.

The early writings of Rye and Hampton mention three garrison houses, one of which, called the Lock Garrison, was at Locke's Neck and existed as late as 1708, and we may presume that it was Locke's house, built strongly of timbers to repel the savages and in which his neighbors sought refuge during the several Indian assaults on these early settlers. It is also probable that having such a stronghold and being in charge or in command of it as owner, he very naturally acquired the title of Lieutenant or Captain as noted in two cases above, even though we do not know that he ever received such commission from the authorities themselves.

With only a difference of wording the histories and early writers have this to say of Captain Locke's death. He was noted for the daring and success with which he fought the Indians, foiling their many attempts to destroy the settlers, hence was correspondingly hated by them. On one of their raids from the east, landing on the coast near Locke's Neck, they concealed their canoes in the bushes and went inland to surprise their intended victims. Locke discovered the canoes and cut generous slashes in them where the cuts were not seen at first glance. The Indians returning from their murderous expedition, pushed off only to find themselves sinking, thereby losing nearly all their plunder, stores, and arms and making it necessary for them to escape overland, suffering many hardships and losing some of their band. Later, a party of eight came from the eastward with the express purpose of killing Locke and, surprising him as he was reaping grain in his field, mortally wounded him with his own gun, which he had left against a rock at some distance away. They then returned without doing further damage. One account says that when the Indians ran up to scalp Locke, the latter had strength enough left to cut off the nose of one with the sickle he had been using; which act was seen by one of his sons who had secreted himself in the grain.

Several anecdotes are told concerning this fact. One was that years after when friendship with the Indians was restored, the same son who saw his father killed, met an Indian minus a nose while both were out hunting, and who when questioned said "Old Locke cut it off." He explained that they tried to capture him alive as he was such a brave man, but he fought so they were compelled to kill and scalp him. Whereupon the son killed the Indian. Another account is that a grandson, named Berry, met at a Portsmouth tavern a noseless Indian, who, rendered talkative by liquor, boasted that he had killed a brave white man, "Old Captain Locke." Whereupon Berry waited outside, killed the Indian, and threw his body in a well, which well was filled up the next day. Jonathan Locke, born 1702, a grandson of Captain Locke, built a house at Rye Center, where the late Jonathan lived (the same site). Seeing an Indian one day a short distance away, he raised the window, propped it up with a book, and taking careful aim with his gun which rested on the window sill, shot the red man dead. When taken to task for killing an Indian in time of peace, he replied that the Indians killed his grandfather and he would kill one whenever he had the chance. Thus it seems that Captain Locke must have been sufficiently avenged, that is if the Indians held out.

John Locke left no will, but letters of administration were granted March 4, 1706, whereby John and Joseph, the oldest and youngest sons, were to settle the estate. An inventory made by James Rendle and William Seavey was returned as follows:

The estate was divided among ten children as given below. the oldest, John, to receive a double portion, although he had already in 1677 been given one half of all his father's lands at Locke's Neck: John, Nathaniel, Edward, William, James, Joseph, Alice, Phenea (Tryphena), Rebecca, Mary. John and Joseph made return to court, May 4, 1708.

"As there was nothing taken out for the widdows thirds, by reason the Adms. did voluntarily promise and agree in open court to take care for the maintainance of the widdow; it is therefore ordered that the said Adms. take care to maintain the widdow during her natural life accordingly. Charles Storer. Recorder."

There can be no doubt that there was an Elizabeth in the above family, and Dr. John Locke born 1772, in a signed statement, names all the above children and Elizabeth also. Eleven children are also named by other old descendants. We can only suppose she died before 1708.

Those of us who recall the early years of our Locke Association will remember that a sword and sickle, claimed to have been used by our ancestor was presented to us and later placed in the keeping of the New Hampshire Historical Society. The fact that a sword is listed in his estate makes the above much more credible, particularly as it passed through only three hands. It is claimed that William Locke, 1677-1768, gave sword, gun, and sickle to his grandson, William, 1758-1828; from him these relics descended to his grandson George Locke, 1817-1903, who gave them to the Association. Excessive patriotism of the Locke boys July 4, 1840, caused the old gun to burst, and though its parts were treasured many years, they gradually disappeared.

That John Locke possessed a sword does not prove that he was an officer or that he was foolish enough to pursue savages with it. Rather let us suppose our ancestor was a man, brave as the Indians called him, such a one as would naturally take the leadership of settlers or scouts when after an enemy, and to whom they would look not as a superior officer but as a fellow settler, perhaps more daring than the rest.

Our progenitor's home at Locke's Neck was probably situated almost in the middle of the present road to the outer end of the point, and just beyond its junction with the road to Jenness Beach and the cable station. The only landmarks are the tansy and one upright stone gate post on the left, which at one time held a gate which gave entrance to the property. His remains, together with his kinsfolk, we must suppose rest in a little plot of land in the southeast corner of these two roads, where thirty-five graves, or rather rough stones may be counted. See the cross marked on the map. The oldest Rye people can tell nothing about this graveyard, except that many years ago a few, perhaps five shipwrecked people were buried there in the space nearest Jenness Beach.

Not being sure of John Locke's burial place, The Locke Association a few years ago erected in the Central Cemetery at Rye, a handsome granite monument to the memory of our ancestor. This association, further honors his memory by holding its annual meetings on the Wednesday nearest the 26th day of August, at Rye, N. H.

John Locke left little in financial estate, what he left was far more valuable. He left in a struggling settlement ten children from whom came at least forty-eight grandchildren. A score or more of his descendants inheriting his fighting spirit took part in the Indian Wars. At least a hundred fought in the War for Independence, and since that time thousands, whether they be governors of New Hampshire, lawyers of national reputation, the honest mechanics, or the humble tillers of the soil, claiming him as ancestor, have performed their little or much in making our country what it is today. Such an estate we claim has no estimate in dollars and cents.

F1 Captain John Locke was probably baptized in London, England, Sept. 16, 1627, married about 1652, ELIZABETH, the daughter of William and Jane Berry, and was killed by the Indians Aug. 26, 1696, in Rye, N. H. Elizabeth the widow was living in 1708 when the estate was settled and the children given below shared in its distribution. Several old papers prepared by descendants born about 1735, give the entire family, and in the following order. As first names only were given it is impossible to determine whether the girls were married, or to whom married at that time (1708) but we know nearly all were.

Children of 2nd Gen.

- F2 JOHN, b. 1654 (?), m. ELIZABETH BOLLES (Bowles).
- 3 ELIZABETH, b. —, probably d. before estate was settled in 1708.

THIRD GENERATION

F2 John Locke, b. 1654 (?), m. ELIZABETH BOLLES (now spelled Bowles) of Wells, Me., about 1677. York deeds say: "Joseph Bolles of Wells by deed Oct. 25, 1678, gives Elizabeth Locke ten acres of land at 3 mile brook, Wells," and by will dated Sept. 18, 1678, he gives dau. Elizabeth, ten pounds. A correspondent writes that he thinks this Elizabeth m. 2nd, WILLIAM PITMAN of Portsmouth. The Rye records say an Elizabeth Locke d. Nov. 12, 1734; and I think this is she. Were it Capt. John's widow, she would have been over 100 years old, and his dau. ELIZABETH must have died before 1708. This accounts for all of that name now known.

He was on jury duty in 1704, and scouts were posted June 5, 1705, as far as his house. About 1677 his father gave him half his right of land on Josling's Neck, and Feb. 3, 1707-8 this JOHN, JR., now Senior, gave his son JOHN, JR., half of all his rights at Josling's Neck in consideration that he pay a debt to Robert Eliot, and the other half on condition that he maintain his mother and pay his brother JETHRO 5 pounds. He bought land in Rye in 1728 at Locke's Neck, and sold all his lands to his son JOHN Dec. 18, 1733. He lived in Rye.

Children as far as known of 3rd Gen.

F13 JOHN, b. 1683, m. SARAH ———.

14 RICHARD, b. ———.

F25 Timothy Locke, b. in Hampton, 1700 (?), m. MIRIAM BROOKE of South Kingston, R. I., about 1722. He with his brothers JOSEPH, ABIJAH, and probably JOHN, went to Rhode Island about 1720 from Hampton. His grandson SAMUEL, b. 1790 says the above is true. In 1751 Timothy bought land at Point Judith Ponds, Kingston, R. I., and sold land in 1757. The General Assembly, Oct. 1776, made him First Lieut., of the 1st Battalion to be raised by the State. Oct. 12, 1776, he was recommended by Washington for the "New Establishment." May 1778, the General Assembly made Captain Timothy Lock one of the officers to command the State Militia. They reappointed him captain in July 1780, and he received pay for services in 1780. He died in So. Kingston, 1797 (?).

I., 1728, perhaps also in Attleboro, Mass. Tradition says his wife had a posthumus child only, who was brought up by his grandfather Norton. Tradition says Jonathan was killed by falling down a bank in Rye.

Child of the 4th Gen.

- F158 JONATHAN, b. —, m. ABIGAIL PERRY.
- F159 SAMUEL LOCKE, b. —, m. LUCY BILL. I do not propose to reject any tradition such as that JONATHAN LOCKE, b. 1705, had a posthumous child, JONATHAN, only, but I do feel warranted for several reasons in placing this Samuel as a possible son of Jonathan, rather than leave him among the unknowns. First, Jonathan was in or about Providence when "Samuel son of Jonathan" was born 1725-30. Second, Jonathan, Sr., had brothers of similar names to Samuel and his known descendants. Third, A Rhode Island Locke of our known branch writes that his mother used to visit a distant relative Mary Burt Locke or Mary Bird Locke as he recalls the name.

F35 Francis Locke, b. July 18, 1694, m. Jan. 24, 1716-7, DELIVERANCE BROOKIN; m. 2nd, March 11, 1733, SARAH MOULTON, dau. of Joseph and Bethia. She was b. Feb. 10, 1692. On Feb. 7, 1717, he sold one-half of a 50 acre grant near Breakfast Hill, sold land to brother THOMAS in 1739. In 1750, he sold land rights, formerly his wife Sarah's. He was a farmer in Rye; Captain of a company which served at Fort William and Mary July 2, 1746. On Dec. 4, 1750, he sold the homestead in Rye to his son FRANCIS, and probably died in 1754. Sarah, his widow, Sept. 4, 1760, sold to dau. PRUDENCE land and personal property.

F36 Samuel Locke, b. Sept. 4, 1698, m. in Hampton Falls, Feb. 13, 1725, MARGARET WARD, dau. of Thomas and Sarah. She was b. July 2, 1705. There is record of at least twelve transactions wherein Samuel, a farmer of Kingston, buys or sells land there between the years 1722-5. He sold land to Edward Locke 1745. He bought land in Gilmanton in 1766, sold it in 1769. He probably was the Samuel who bought land in Canterbury in 1770. He died in 1770 (?).

 188c EBENEZER WEBSTER, b. Hampton Falls, Oct. 22, 1749.
 188d DANIEL WEBSTER, b. Feb. 12, 1751.

F39 James Locke, b. Oct. 4, 1709, m. March 2, 1731-2, MERCY FOSS of Barnstead. He bought 50 acres of land in Rochester 1732, and sold the same in 1733. "James, cordwainer and Mercy," sold land in Rochester 1737, also in 1763.

One Adams is called the first settler of Barnstead, the reason being that he settled in the southern part, while James Locke settled in the remote northeast part a few years before. James served under Genl. Wolf at Quebec in 1759, and returning to his home in Rochester, again took up his routine of farming and hunting. On one of these trips he fell in with a hunter named Libbey, who lived on what is now New Durham Ridge. Libbey wanted a neighbor, even though he be five miles away, and showed Locke a clearing where Indians had apparently camped. This seemed a desirable location, as it was within a mile of a large tract of marsh land, and its hay would winter several cattle. Here he built his cabin and to it moved his family from Rochester about 1762. George L. Hall of Barnstead near the Strafford line lives on the site of this cabin. Locke and Libbey worked the marsh together, cutting and stacking the grass to be drawn in the winter on sleds by the elders or their sons. Moose fed on these stacks, and one winter three were shot; Indians also slept there but did no damage. James died on the home place about 1805, and was buried there. His wife was a large powerful woman.

F46 Jonathan Locke, b. in Rye March 15, 1702, m. in Portsmouth, by Rev. Wm. Allen, March 2, 1727, SARAH HAINES, dau. of William and Mary (Lewis) of Greenland. She was b. Oct. 18, 1705, d. Oct. 1753. He bought 31 acres of land on the Sandy Beach Road in Rye 1723-4 and in 1735 bought 34 acres of land in New Castle (Part of Andrew Pepperell's land). In 1739 he sold land on the Greenland Road, again sold land in Chester 1758. In 1767 he gave son DAVID 35 acres of land in Rye provided he support his sister SARAH until her marriage. He gave common land to son JONATHAN in 1771. He lived in Rye and was a Representative to the General Assembly. At General Assembly Jan. 1744 he with two others were appointed a committee "to go to James Jeffreys, late Clerk of the Assembly and demand and bring back the books and files belonging to this house." He lived where Deacon Jonathan Locke now resides at Rye Centre, and died there Jan. 2, 1774. His wife and five children died of throat distemper in 1753.

F193 James Locke, born 1752; married 1778, MARY BEAN, who was born 1758 and died 1844. He tried to enlist for the Revolution but was rejected by Capt. Norris, 1775. James and Mary went from Rye to North Barnstead, where he was one of the proprietors of Locke's Corner, 1768. When a lad of seventeen he worked in a grist mill in Rochester, and received one bushel of corn for five and one-half days work. Throwing his meal over his shoulder, he would leave for home Saturday noon following the spotted trees through the forest, arriving home at night, often so weary that he could scarcely walk. His fiancée being a Quakeress, he also became a Quaker, and after marriage bought wild land near what is now known as Locke's Corner, and converted it into a beautiful and productive farm, on which he passed a prosperous and contented life. He was selectman several years, and regarded by all as a man of honor. He died in Nov. 1833.

He was an inspector of "Minute Men" in Rye 1777. He gave each son a farm except HALL JACKSON, who chose money for an education. He died in Rye, Sept. 13, 1813.

He set out two elms in front of his home in Rye, now large and majestic. Soon after planting them he noticed a boy riding by on horseback break off a branch to whip his horse. The boy got the whipping, and years after the boy, now a very old man would go to that tree, tap it with his cane, and thank Locke for whipping him and so saving so fine a tree. He then would go to see his great-grandchildren and tell them about it. Another time, going to Portsmouth on horseback, he met a man whom he invited to share his horse. Coming to the tavern and knowing his companion's weakness, he called for a gill of rum, and dividing it he drank the other's health with the words, "Those who cannot govern themselves, must be governed."

F637 Simeon Locke, born in Rye, March 21, 1760, married in Epsom, Jan. 29, 1784, ABIGAIL BLAKE of Epsom, daughter of Samuel B. She was born Feb. 23, 1766, died July 13, 1839. He enlisted with his brother REUBEN in Capt. Parsons' Co. July 4, 1777, and was in the R. I. service.

In his day it was customary to cast oxen on their side when shoeing. Helping in this work when quite young he lost an eye by an ox throwing back his horn. He became an excellent marksman however, and enlisted in the Revolutionary war, July 4, 1777, and performed efficient service therein. At the close of the war in 1783 he went to Epsom, when bridle paths and blazed trees were the means of reaching many parts of the town. He first settled in a clearing located about half a mile west of the Sherburne road in the north part of the town. A few years later, he bought and moved upon the farm on the top of Locke's Hill, where he was joined in June 1792 by his brother DAVID, who settled on the next farm south, and in 1800 by his brother LEVI, who settled on the next farm north. The three brothers at this time, owned all the beautiful round-topped hill and much of the land in the adjoining valley. To the south of them stretched the valleys of the Suncook and Merrimack. In 1818 he removed to the intervale at East Concord where he died Aug. 12, 1839.

H. James Locke died at his home at East Concord Jan. 1, 1892. He was born on Locke's Hill in Epsom. In Dec. 1835 he moved upon the farm in the mountain district, East Concord, and occupied the same house until his death. He early acquired habits of industry and frugality, a sincere respect for labor and a wholesome contempt for pompous show. Though without children of his own, his interest in, and kindness to, children was a marked feature of his character. Many persons of mature years even now recall his kindness towards them as boys. The beauties of nature were a perpetual pleasure to him and impressed him with the wisdom of the Creator. He loved all animals, believing they, like men, were created for some good purpose. To the very last he kept well posted on current events, his interest in the world never flagging. although all these later years he expressed himself as "living on borrowed time."

Jan. 16, 1776, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 6, 1857. Ephraim was in Hollis, Me., until 1802, then lived four years in Saco. From 1806 to 1829 he was a merchant in Boston, and from there moved to New York City where he died Aug. 2, 1832.

He wrote the following in his Bible: "The following is known of my ancestors, that two brothers came from England about 1625-30; one settled at Cape Ann the other at Rye, near Portsmouth, the latter being the grandfather of my grandfather; my ancestors before my grandfather all lived and died in Rye. My wife's grandfather, JOSHUA FOSS (b. 1709), who married LYDIA RAND, has informed me that his grandfather came to Boston as midshipman on a war ship about 1630, left the vessel and settled in Rye, having a large family. This Joshua lived to be 99 years old. When I was young he gave me much information in regard to the early settlers, hardships and perils of the Indians. He well remembered seeing the workmen in 1713 cutting the canal from the sea to let the salt water into the fresh pond in Rye (at Rye Harbor), by which a large tract of salt marsh was made. His wife, Lydia Rand, also descended from Rye people; her grandparents came over aged people about 1630, and they with her father's first wife and two children were killed by the Indians and were buried in one grave, now known to Rye people. Signed EPHRAIM LOCKE.

F1399 Sylvanus Dyer Locke, born in Richfield, N. Y., Sept. 11, 1833, married in Johnston, Wis., Aug. 13, 1861, ELLEN JOSEPHINE PARKER, born in Vienna, N. Y., June 11, 1840, daughter of Hon. John and Almira (Wadhams). Mr. Locke obtained his education in the public schools of New York supplemented by three years diligent study in academies. Starting West in 1856, he was employed by the Wisconsin Central R. R. as chief draftsman, designing their various bridges and viaducts, but the panic of 1857 drove him into teaching as principal of a seminary in Columbus, Ky. In 1859 he entered the office of a law firm in Janesville, Wis., and while there saw the need of an automatic binding machine. He designed his first machine while in the employ of Walter A. Wood, and in 1873, after thirteen years of experimenting and the expenditure of $100,000 he sold the first self-binding harvester ever used by farmers. In the next twenty years 5,000,000 machines were made and sold.

A pioneer in the invention of this machine, he held over one hundred patents on it, and in other fields of mechanics and machines he held almost as many more. His life was an illustration of the possibilities offered to energy and perseverance, and an example to the young and honest poor of the land. In his own country he enjoyed the confidence and approbation of all, manifested by his election as a Republican to the legislature in 1883. After many years of retirement he died in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., Sept. 27 1896.

The Locke family is under particular obligation to this man, who at much expense and time in 1890 traveled to Block Island, R. I., and personally went over and copied every Locke item to be found there, and by these proved to his own satisfaction, and to mine that the Block Island Lockes were from Hampton, N. H., traditions so called, notwithstanding; also that there were no others there in early times. From records and from the testimony of three persons born about 1800 he disproved the idea that any Locke was in bondage, except the four-year-old daughter of CAPTAIN ABIJAH LOCKE who was bound out. He shows conclusively that of the four brothers who are said to have left Hampton for Rhode Island, JOSEPH settled in Block Island, TIMOTHY settled in South Kingston, and of JOHN and ABIJAH nothing is known, except in a negative way; that is, the John and Abijah mentioned in Block Island records must have been younger men, sons of NATHANIEL, born 1723. I have given the gist of Mr. Locke's research, embraced in twenty-five pages of type-written matter, in the various proper places and headings, but space forbids its entire publication. We surely appreciate the painstaking work.

Stephen Locke, born 1816, says: "I was sickly till about 16 years of age then strength came to me and at 25 I was as strong as anyone. Father raised everything we ate or wore right on the farm. He never bought a barrel of flour in his life. Now there is not an acre of wheat grown in the county. Our suits were homespun and a travelling tailor came around, cut, and made up the suits. Thus attired I added to my Hollis schooling a year in Kennebunk Academy. In 1835 I went to school in Kennebunk studying by the fireplace or by pitch pine knots; very trying to the face and eyes for one had to get near the light and heat. I taught school and studied winters from 1835 to 1865 and in the summers worked at my trade of mason and bricklayer, ten years being in Boston. My 40-75 pupils of ages 3-25 kept the fireplaces or stoves full of wood but many bitter cold days we spent there. However they plodded along and many of them won worthy places in life. In Boston we got $1.50 a day and paid $4.50-$5.00 for board. When we got $2.00 I thought I was rich. We started at work at 5 and ended at 7 to 7.30 or 12 hours a day. The rest of the time was ours and we had to sleep some. I early joined the Methodist church and the Masons. Save weak eyes and bodily weakness I am in good health due to correct and temperate habits."

He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1874, studied law and began the practice of law with his brother in 1880 and continued in the firm until his brother's death. The shock of this on a not over strong constitution caused him to retire from business and resulted in his death in Portland, Jan. 28, 1910. He was a true Christian and a beloved, devoted and most useful member of the Methodist church. He was also a member of the various Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges; also of the Maine State Historical and Genealogical Societies. He will be long remembered by our association as one of its most zealous workers, having been its president several years.

He attended the public school and at the age of seventeen was apprenticed to a tanner and currier. For four years he worked at this trade and in 1829 took charge of a tanning business in Barton, Vt. While there he was awakened to the importance of a spiritual life, was converted and joined the Methodist Church. He determined to engage as a teacher and preacher, and selling his business entered Brownington Academy in order to train for the ministry. Here his health broke down, but acting on his physician's advice he went to Hampton, for the sea air, where he studied at the academy, holding meetings at different houses. His first regular work was as assistant on the Northfield Circuit. At the next Conference he received a "local preacher's" license and took charge at East Kingston. It was about this time that he married.

For many years as a member of the New Hampshire and Vermont Conference, then one body, he labored throughout the southern sections of these states, meeting with great success. He gained many converts, built churches where there had been none and in the second Adventist excitement during the early forties, held his people true to their church with a firm hand, a level head and sympathetic heart. In the spring of 1847 upon the death of his father, he went back to Canada where he remained for six years on the old home farm, at the same time preaching at various vacant places.

After this he returned to Manchester, where he purchased a farm a short distance from the city. With the exception of the years from 1861-6, passed in Kittery, Me., Kingston, and Conway, the remainder of his life was spent there, where he died after a hale and happy old age, July 21, 1896. He was greatly interested in the organization of the Locke Association and was one of its most enthusiastic supporters. A more detailed account of his life may be found in Willey's "Book of Nutfield," Vol. I, Part 8, page 343.

San Francisco, Jan. 25, 1903. After receiving a common school education, he for a time worked in a flour mill in Dayton, N. Y. He sailed for California via Cape Horn from New York, Jan. 1, 1849, and was several months on the way—so long, in fact, that his brother DAVID who bade him good-bye in New York, came back to Lyman, taught school that winter, and started for California in the spring, going by the Panama route arriving there three days before his brother. The surprise of Silas at being welcomed by his brother whom he had left in New York can be imagined. He started mining with indifferent success, and then bought a well, where California market, the Wall street of San Francisco, now stands, and for many years controlled the water supply of the city, a far more profitable business than mining. By advice of General W. T. Sherman, then a Lieutenant stationed there, he invested his savings in land within the city limits, and this in later years made him an extensive dealer in real estate. An original "49er," he was one of the oldest members of the Society of California Pioneers.

1842, married in Portland, Aug. 27, 1873, FLORENCE E. PERLEY, born Sept. 27, 1854, daughter of Joseph and Ruth (Merrill).

Hon. Joseph A. Locke, one of the best beloved citizens of Portland, Me., died at his home April 21, 1904, the result of overwork.
Born in Hollis, he moved in childhood to Biddeford where he fitted for college, graduating from Bowdoin in 1865 with high honors, being salutatorian of his class. After graduation he taught a few years in the Portland high school in charge of Greek, Latin and chemistry, meanwhile pursuing his law studies. He was admitted to practice in 1868 and settled in Portland, where he had a large practice. In 1880 his brother joined him under the name of Locke & Locke. Mr. Locke was frequently honored with official positions, in all of which he acquitted himself with great credit. He was elected to the Legislature in 1877-1878, serving on the Judiciary Committee each time. In the 1879 election he was the only Republican representative out of five elected from Portland. He was nominated by his party for speaker but was defeated by combination of Democrats and Greenbackers. The next year he was elected to the state senate and chosen president of the same, which act was repeated in 1881. He was then elected twice on the governor's council. In Free Masonry he achieved the highest rank, being elected in 1884 in Detroit, sovereign grand inspector of the 33rd degree of Scottish Rite Masonry and, had he lived a few months longer, he would have been elected captain-general of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of the United States, in all cases going through the regular offices. He was a leading active member of the Methodist Church, and a member of Maine Historical and Genealogical societies, etc. The city and state has lost a man exemplary in every condition of life.

He attended the schools of Waltham, and graduating from the high school he supplemented this with a short course of two years at the Institute of Technology. His father was superintendent of the gas company up to 1874, and Alonzo assisted him in his spare time. He afterwards entered the employ of the American Watch Company in the Nashua department, and continued in their employ until failing health prevented further labor. He was a member of long standing in the Universalist Church, and for many years was its parish clerk, his resignation being accepted only when the performance of the duties became impossible. He was an enthusiastic member of the Masonic fraternity, joining Monitor Lodge in 1869, going through the various chairs until he became Master in 1892. He also was a member of the other Masonic bodies including Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar. He held the office of secretary in Monitor Lodge some fourteen years—a man of the most exemplary habits, always cheerful, and of the strictest integrity, making many friends and losing none. After a prolonged illness, caused by a paralytic shock following an accident, he passed into the eternal life Sunday afternoon Dec. 27, 1914.

JUDGE JAMES W. LOCKE F4131

F4131 Judge James William Locke, born in Wilmington, Vt., Oct. 30, 1837, married Oct. 5, 1866, ALVINA C. NEAL in Kittery, Me., born Sept. 19, 1841, died in Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3, 1905, daughter of John and Ann M. (Badger).

He received a good education in the public schools of Manchester, N. H., and at the Wesleyan Academy at Stanstead, Canada. He began public life in teaching in the schools of Manchester, at the same time studying law in the office of Hon. William Stark. At the outbreak of the war he was appointed paymaster's clerk in the U. S. Navy and in 1863 was transferred to the Naval Station at Key West, Fla. Mustered out at the close of the war, he remained there and entered upon the practice of his profession. He was at various times County Superintendent of Education, Clerk of U. S. Courts, and U. S. Commissioner; in 1868 he was appointed judge for Monroe Co. and in 1870 was elected as state senator. He was appointed U. S. Judge for the Southern District of Florida on Feb. 1st, 1872, being recommended for such appointment by every member of the bar of the district without regard to political affiliations and continued to make his home in Key West. For several years he sat upon the bench of the Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans, La., until in 1894 the extension of his district and the duties of the court required the removal of his residence to Jacksonville, where he has since resided. On the 4th of July, 1912, he retired by resignation, having passed the age of seventy and served more than forty years upon the federal bench. Judge Locke is quite as well known in Portsmouth and Kittery, Me., where he spends his summers as in the South. He has served as President of the Locke Association many times and needless to say, is one of its most enthusiastic members.

F4704 Oliver Horton Locke, born in New Castle, July 19, 1836, married in Portsmouth, March 7, 1857, ELIZA JANE BRACKETT, born in Portsmouth, Jan. 13, 1838, the daughter of Thomas and Jane (Walden), a descendant of Anthony Brackett of Rye and Portland, Me. At 15 he was shoemaking, and a year later went to Farmington as foreman of a shop. Returning to Portsmouth, he learned the house joiners trade, became a builder and continued as such the rest of his life except the last six years when he was incapacitated. He enlisted Nov. 20, 1862, and was carpenter's mate on the ship "Colorado" until his discharge Feb. 10, 1864. Lack of schooling was rapidly overcome by constant reading and study, so that in mature years he was able to hold his own with those of higher education, was an able talker, and one whose advice and sound judgment was eagerly sought and followed. He was a Master Mason, served the Odd Fellows 35 years as secretary, was long a member of the Fire company and the Mechanics Association of which he was several times President. A strong Republican, he served his party in conventions, and his city as Councilman and in other minor offices, although being elected from a strong Democratic ward. A lover of children, he had their respect and was held in the highest estimation by all adults. He died March 28, 1906.

received the degree of A.M. in 1893, was appointed draftsman in the U. S. Navy Department in 1891, and served as such for twelve years in several naval stations including two years in Washington. In 1903 he took charge of the Brick manufacturing plant of the York Harbor Brick Co., at York, Me., as Treasurer and Manager, with his home in Portsmouth. He has been alderman and councilman at large, declined mayoralty nomination, and has served in other places of trust and honor, one of which was seven years on the School Board. He is a member of the various Masonic bodies including De Witt Clinton Commandery of Knights Templar, and several local clubs. He is now serving his third year as Warden of St. John's Episcopal Church. It is quite possible that this genealogy would never have been completed, or at least not for many years, without the great assistance of Mrs. Locke. She has shared my labors in all the large libraries, has read all the proof with me, in every way has been my encourager and co-worker and is surely an equal sharer in any credit which this book merits. She is an active church worker, prominent in all women's efforts for the betterment of the race and city, and has served in various official capacities in the Woman's Club, Civic Club and Girls' Club of Portsmouth.

John McIndoe came to America in 1784, settled at the head of McIndoe Falls, his son James lived on this farm until 1822, and Lyman was born there. He learned the printer's trade, became owner of the Windsor, (Vt.) Journal, the oldest weekly in Vermont, and this paper continued in his family down to Mr. Marsh O. Perkins, whose health compelled him to relinquish it. Abigail Blake, was educated in the Lyman schools, and in the famous academies at Peacham and Newbury, Vt. She was a teacher until marriage, and after the death of her husband, carried on the publication of the Windsor Journal, and later married Mr. Butler who was an editor of it. Her interest in education was shown by her financial assistance to many young people, enabling them to prepare for life's work. Her gifts to missionary and other philanthropic objects, were noble and generous yet without ostentation. Her motherhood ever contributed to the dignity, purity and beauty of the home circle and brought to her the unbounded affection of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Possessed of a great heritage founded on the Christian's hope, she truly transmitted it enlarged and beautified to descendants, and to the community at large. She passed away in that hope Feb. 28, 1912.

Not satisfied with the outlook for success in Portsmouth, he very early went to Boston where he learned the mason's trade. At 24 he was in charge of the erection of one of the first big mills of Dover, at 27 was building the State Prison at Concord, and from that time until now he has kept on in the same line. Employing at times eleven hundred artizans and with building contracts of two and one half million dollars, he has erected many of the largest mills in Lawrence. He is a bank director, director in several Lawrence corporations, and owns much valuable property there. He is held in the highest esteem by the citizens but has declined all political favors. With very large means he might retire, but the habit of doing big things will

Nathaniel Locke of Portsmouth

Another Locke was in Portsmouth and vicinity, contemporary with John, as appears from the following deposition made May 10, 1810 by Jonathan and David Locke, and was perhaps a brother of Captain John Locke.

"This may certify to whom it may concern, that the following genealogy of the ancestors, in substance as followeth, hath been told unto us by our forefathers, the truth to which we attest, viz.: 1st. We say that Jonathan Palmer, deceased, was the son and lawful heir to Christopher Palmer and Elizabeth Palmer. 2nd., Christopher Palmer's wife Elizabeth, was daughter and lawful heir to William and Judith Berry. (A mistake, see record below). 3rd., William Berry's wife Judith was daughter and lawful heir to the Locke and his wife who came from England, said Locke's wife name before marriage was Hermins, and she brought with her into New England, a coat of arms so called, which referred to John Hermins. William Berry's wife Judith was daughter and lawful heir to Nathaniel Locke and his wife, whose name previous to marriage was Hermins."

The records of Portsmouth give the following items: "March 4 & 5, 1672, Nathaniel Locke did two days work on Highways at Great Island (New Castle) and Sept. 30, 1672, a noate was drawn on Henry Dering for Nathaniel Locke for six shillings". Another record is "At a meeting of the Selectmen this 5th., March 1674-5 upon motion made by Widow Locke to live in the school house on the Great Island in order to the teaching of children to read and sew, have granted her desire". Undoubtedly the widow of Nathaniel's as this name does not appear again except in John's family. Tradition says that the other Locke not John, left no sons, but is silent as to daughters.

HISTORICAL ACCOUNT OF THE LOCKE FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

AND ORIGIN OF THE NAME AND ARMS.

From the "Gentleman's Magazine," Vol. 62, Part 2, page 798. 1792, and copied verbatim from Book of the Lockes, by John G. Locke 1852.

MR. URBAN,

East Brent, Somersetshire, July 17.

IN pursuance of the wishes of A. B. in p. 555, I here send you some account of the Locke family.

Tradition considers the name of Locke of Scotch extraction, originally spelt Loch; but, if so, it must have been in very early time; for when Alfred divided this kingdom into parishes, the dwelling of a great man, known by the name of Locke, was called after him Lockstown, or the Town of Locke. It adjoins East Brent whence I date this letter, and where the family at one time became numerous. At present it is called Lockston alias Loxton, the lordship of which belongs to the Marquis of Buckingham. The parish of Locking is distant two miles from Lockstown, and hath long since been divided; but a large farm of many hundreds per annum, called Lockinghead, together with the perpetuity of the living, belongs to the merchants of Bristol.

The Locke family in this neighborhood consider themselves as descended from a very ancient house, arguing that they gave name to the parishes where they lived, before the Conquest, and do not derive their name with a De from the parishes, as is very commonly the case.

However, I have not seen any account of this family before Robert Locke, whom we find to have been joined with Thomas de Saint Maur, as Vicecomes of Wiltshire, anno 1350. John Locke, sheriff of London, 1460, is the first in a pedigree in my possession. Thomas, his son, was a merchant in London, who died anno 1507, and by Joan his wife (who was the only daughter and heir of Mr. Wilcock of Rotheram in Yorkshire) left three sons, John, William, and Michael. John is said to have died without issue, and buried in Mercer's Chapel, 1519, with his arms (a) in the window, a proof the family bore arms before those granted by Queen Mary, 1555. William, married two wives; (b) first, Elizabeth, daughter and heir of Mr. Spencer, a citizen and fishmonger of London; secondly, Catharine, daughter of William, and sister and co-heir of Sir Thomas Cook, of Wiltshire, knight. Rose Locke, the only daughter by the second ventor was married to Anthony, son of Walter Hickman of Woodford, in Essex, Esq.; by whom she became ancestor to the baronets of that name, the late Lord Montjoy, the present Earl of Plymouth. Matthew Locke, the youngest son by the first ventor, had an only daughter Elizabeth, married to Richard Chandler of London, merchant, son of William Chandler of Little Walsingham, in Norfolk, Gent.; whose only daughter Elizabeth married Ferdinando Richardson (who died 1596), groom of the stole to Queen Elizabeth. The above William Locke, 25 Henry VIII. undertook to go over to Dunkirk, and pull down the pope's bull, which had been there posted up by way of a curse to the king and kingdom. For this exploit the king granted him a freehold of £100 per annum, dubbed him knight, and made him one of the gentlemen of his privy-chamber. Sir William lived to be an alderman of London, and was sheriff of the city in 1548. He died 1550, and by his first wife, left issue eight sons and daughters, exclusive of Matthew already mentioned. Of these elder branches of Sir William Locke's family we have in Somersetshire a very imperfect account. George Locke, of Tiverton, who was buried at St. Sidwell's in Exeter, anno 1586, was supposed to be one of the sons. And from another of them, Thomas Locke of Little Horsely, in Essex, is said to have been de-

(a) I am of opinion, after an examination of Stow's "Survey of London," that the "arms in the window" were those of Sir William Locke, who was buried in Mercer's Chapel in 1550; yet a doubt remains.

(b) He had four wives.

scended. He married Susannah, daughter of Sir William Welby, of Gedney, in Lincolnshire, Knight of the Bath, whose issue was an only daughter, Susannah, wife of the Rev. John Carse, D. D. She died Nov. 10, 1649. Perhaps from one of these sons descended the Rev. John Locke, Rector of Askerwell, in the County of Dorset, father to the Rev. William Locke, who died 1686, and who by a daughter of the Rev. Lyte Whynnel, clerk, became seized of the perpetuity of his father's living, which was by the Rev. William Locke, his son (who died May 8, 1722), sold to William Bennet of Norton Bavent in the County of Wilts, whose grandson is the present incumbent. It has been supposed that we are indebted to some part of Sir William Locke's family for two very respectable characters, in the persons of Sir John Locke, Knight, an East India director, who died 1746, and James Locke his brother, husband to the Turkey Company. I think you have told us in your Magazine, that a Mr. Oates, of Richmond in Surry, had one hundred and fifty thousand pounds in 1748, with a daughter of the latter; and a Mr. Rawlinson, of Wiltshire, is thought to have had some such sum with a daughter of the former, with whom he intermarried in 1740.

The Rev. Mr. Locke, of Newark upon Trent, the Lockes of Oxfordshire, Gloucestershire, Wiltshire, Essex, London, and Bristol, including the celebrated Miss Locke of poetical memory, (see p. 72 of your present volume,) can say whether they do or do not derive their descent from Sir William Locke, Knight, Alderman of London.

Michael Locke, younger brother (a) of Sir William, according to a pedigree now before me, was father amongst other children of Matthew Locke, who became seated at Pensford in Buckinghamshire, and had two sons, Richard and Christopher. The former was of Bedminster in the County of Somerset, and, dying 1617, left John Locke, his son, Mayor of Bristol 1641, father of another John Locke of Bristol, merchant, whose son, Samuel Locke, became a merchant in London, and of whose family and death I have not been able to procure any account. Christopher Locke, the youngest son, soon after Abbot Whiting's lands at East Brent were granted to the Whitmore family, was sent into that parish (which as I before observed adjoins to Lockstown), to divide the forfeited estates into farms; and having laid out a valuable farm for himself at a place called Pilrow, built a large house and became the stem of a very respectable family, whose baptisms, as by the parish register penes me, are as follows:

1. Christopher, bapt. March 25, 1593, father of another Christopher of Pilrow, William of South Brent, and John of Locke's Broad House, in the parish of Mark. This last Christopher had two daughters, Anne and Christian; the former married, first, Henry Symonds of South Brent, ancestor to the Symonds and Hardens; and, secondly, to Tory Tutton, great-grandfather of Isaac Phelps of South Brent, Esq. Christian intermarried with Robert Dod of Burnham, ancestor of the Dods of that parish. William of South Brent had one daughter, Mary, who married John Petheram, ancestor to the Petherams of this neighborhood. John of Locks Broad had but one daughter, Elizabeth, who married John Champion, and, by a female issue, became ancestor of the Guy family.

2. John Locke, baptized Aug. 1, 1595, was church-warden of the parish 1630, and upon our parish-book his name is signed as is represented in Plate II. (where the Locke arms are also engraved Fig. 4). He became a captain of foot in the civil wars of Charles the First, and was killed at Bristol in 1645. (b.) He had two sons, one of whom died in his minority; the other was the

(a) English antiquarians have supposed that the Michael Locke here spoken of was a son of Sir William and not his brother, and so I have represented him in the chart that follows this article; but I have strong suspicion that the statement in the text is true, and that Sir William had both a brother and a son named Michael. If I am right in my supposition, Matthew of Pensford, who is represented in the chart as the son of Michael, and gr. son of Sir William, was in fact the son of Michael and nephew of Sir William.

(b) That Capt. Locke was killed as above related, has been stated by several authors; but Lord King, in the life of John, the son of Capt. Locke, speaking of a letter written by John the son to his father, says "It is without date, but was probably written before 1660."

judicious John Locke, the great metaphysician and philosopher; of whom hereafter.

3. Honour, bapt. August 21, 1597, and, intermarrying with Francis Shepard of Mark, became ancestor of the Shepards, Giles's, Giblets, Stars, Coomers, Counsels, and Smeaths in this part of Somersetshire.

4. Christian, bapt. July 3, 1601; of whom we have no farther account.

5. Lewis Locke, baptized 13th July 1606; was buried at Taunton Saint Mary Magdalen, March 27, 1692. By four wives he had thirty-five children, most of whom lived to be men and women; and what is more remarkable, his eldest son John, born 1625, was fifty-nine years of age, when his youngest son Christopher was born at Taunton, anno 1684. It is reported in the family that John had a great-grandson as old as his younger brother; which is, perhaps, the chief reason why this branch of the family cannot truly ascertain their respective degrees of kindred. It is, however, generally believed, that all the Lockes of Somersetshire and Devonshire derive themselves from this Lewis; but whether so or not, we know that Allen, one of the younger sons by the last wife, was father of another Allen who was father of the present Mr. Thomas Locke of Taunton, Maltster, who has six sons, three of whom are settled in London and three in Taunton, the youngest being a Master of Arts of the University of Oxford, also one daughter not yet married.

William Locke of Pitminster, near Taunton, was another son of Lewis by his fourth wife. He married Dorothy, daughter of Richard Cooksley of Dunstar, Gentleman, and died Jany. 25, 1719, aged 49. His only son Richard married Hannah, the only daughter of John Dod, of Burnham in the County of Somerset, Gentleman, and became an inhabitant of that parish. He died 1765, aged 59, leaving the present Richard Locke, Esq. of Highbridge House in Burnham, his son and heir. This last gentleman is well known in the literary line as an Antiquary and Agriculturist, he having in the course of forty years written many essays and short pieces, upon various subjects, in the different periodical publications of the day, some with, but more without his real signature. His two essays in the fifth volume of the Bath Agricultural Society's papers, (one on the improvement of meadow land; the other, an historical account of the flat part of Somersetshire, as it has been and still is capable of improvement), are originals in their kind. He has been announced in your present volume, (p. 241), as the original author of the History of Taunton; in which town he was not a resident, as there intimated, having always resided in Burnham where he was born. The ingenious Mr. Richard Locke, of Magdalen-Hall, Oxford, is his only son. The arms borne by this branch of the family are: Party per fesse, Azure and Or, a pale between three falcons indorsed, counterchanged. Crest: a falcon of the same with a padlock in its beak.

Another Richard Locke of Pitminster, above mentioned, was author of two mathematical tracts; one intitled, "An Essay on the Longitude," printed for Meadows and Ashby, in 1732; the other "The Circle Squared," printed for J. Wilford in 1734. I do not know whether he was a grandson or a great-grandson of Lewis; but he was uncle to the present John Locke, Esq. of Pitminster, whose only daughter and heir was lately married to Thomas Welman, Esq. near Taunton.

John Locke, Esq. the celebrated philosopher, was son of Captain Locke, already mentioned to have been killed at Bristol. He was born at Wrington (which is eight miles from East Brent), 29th August, 1632; and immediately upon the death of his father, was sent to Westminster School; whence he was removed to Christ-Church College, Oxford, in 1651; took his degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1655, and Master of Arts in 1658; became Secretary to Sir William Swan, an English Envoy to one of the foreign Courts in 1664; travelled with the Earl of Northumberland in 1668; began to write his essay on "Human Understanding" in 1670; made Fellow of the Royal Society in 1671; Secretary of the Presentations under Lord Chancellor Cowper in 1672; Secretary to a Commission of Trade, in 1673; took the degree of Bachelor of Physick in 1674; travelled to France in 1675; became a courtier under the Earl of Shaftsbury in 1679; was prosecuted for libelling the Government in 1682; deprived of all preferments, even his student's place at Christ-Church College in 1683. By the application of William Penn to King James the Second, he might have received his pardon on pleading guilty, which he refused with this memorable saying, "He had committed no crime, and therefore should not plead guilty." In 1685 he fled to Holland, and was one of the Eighty-four persons demanded by King James of the State's General, which made him live in exile till 1687, when he constituted a weekly assembly at Amsterdam; amongst whom were Mr. Le Clerc, Mr. Limborch, &c. &c. In 1689 he returned to England, with the Princess of Orange; was made a Commissioner of Appeals in 1690; appointed one of the Commissioners of Trade and Plantations in 1695, which he resigned for want of health in 1700. He died at Oates, in the County of Essex, the country-seat of Sir Francis Masham, Bart., on the 28th of October, 1704. His works consist of twenty-two different publications, collected in three volumes folio.

I have never seen any account of this gentleman's marriage; neither do I know upon what ground Sir Peter King, Lord-Chancellor of England, was considered his nephew, unless it was in consequence of becoming his heir. (a) Near fifty years since I heard one of the grandsons of Lewis Locke call the chancellor, son of a tallow-chandler in Exeter, and treat his name with some reproach, under the idea of having supplanted the Locke family in the affections of their relation; although this gentleman allowed he was not the heir, neither could he tell who was. Perhaps some of the female line of his father's elder brother.

That too much room for local matter may not be stolen in such an useful work as the Gentleman's Magazine, it became necessary to introduce within a narrow compass as much information as possible. It must therefore be expected that many younger branches of this respectable family are left unnoticed, and many proofs omitted, that might have been adduced; but if there be any imperfection or deficiency of importance in the present account, any person interested can, by a private correspondence or otherwise, have recourse to Mr. Locke, late Mayor of Oxford, Wadham Locke, Esq. of Devizes, Wilts, Thomas Locke, Esq. of the Herald's office, who is at present Norroy king-at-arms, or to any of the parties mentioned in this pedigree to be at present living."

H. F. Y.

"P. S. Having room, I ask Q, is the Rev. Dr. Locke of Norwich, and the Rev. William Locke, Rector of Burwell in Norfolk, mentioned in "Walker's Sufferings of the Clergy," p. 296, the same person, and how connected with this family?"

The following was from another correspondent:—

MR. URBAN,

August 22.

"The inquiries of your correspondent A. B. (p. 555) as to the family of Mr. Locke, I am not furnished with materials to answer, but have no doubt, many of your readers have it in their power to give a very satisfactory answer to them. With respect to his arms, I can inform A. B. that he bore, or claimed to bear, Party per fesse Az. and Or, a pale counterchanged; on the three pieces of the first as many falcons (or hawks) volant of the second. At the same time it is proper to inform him that Edmonson, in his Alphabet of Arms, gives the following coat as granted to the name of Locke 5 July, 2 Philip and Mary, viz. Per fesse Az. and Or, a pale counterchanged, three hawks with wings indorsed of the last. Crest: a hawk with wings indorsed, holding in his beak a padlock, Or."

(a) Jerome King, father of Peter King, Lord High Chancellor, m. the sister of John Locke, the representative of whose family is now (1853) the Earl of Lovelace who m. Ada, the dau. of Lord Byron. Her early death was recently recorded in the newspapers.

As it respects the name of Locke and the Arms, my efforts in endeavoring to discover the origin have been of little avail. In the article on page 342, it is said that "Tradition considers the name of Locke of Scotch extraction originally spelt Loch, but if so, it must have been in early time; for when Alfred divided this kingdom [England] into parishes, the dwelling of a great man known by the name of Locke was called after him Lockstown or the Town of Locke." Again: "The Locke family consider themselves as descended from a very ancient house, arguing that they gave the name to the parishes where they lived, before the Conquest, and do not derive their name with a De, from the parishes, as is very commonly the case."

Surnames were not common in England until after the time of William the Conqueror, and the above statement may admit of some doubt, although the authority is allowed, by some of the most learned antiquarians in England, to be generally reliable. The English word lock is from the Anglo Saxon loc or loce, an enclosed place, the fastening of a door, a curl of hair; and the Danish word lok and the German locke, has the same general signification. The Welch word lloc is a sheep-cote, a fold, or close or narrow place, and the Gaelic word loch means a lake, a bay, or arm of the sea, (that is, water confined or enclosed more or less). The Greek word for lake, in its radical sense, means a hole or other place that contains or holds. The original idea appears, then, in all these different languages, something that encloses or confines. But when and why it became a family name, must be left for others, more learned than the writer, to discover.

The Lockes in England are perhaps of a different origin from the Scotch Lochs, as the former in their bearings have the falcon and the padlock, while the latter have swans swimming in a lake. The orthography has ever been various. Some of the earliest records give us Locke, and somewhat later I find Loc, Lok, and Lock and Locke. Sir William's name is given Lock and Locke; his sons, Michael and John, who were both men of education, wrote it Lok, and the same variations are found through several centuries, showing most conclusively that the particular way which individuals may spell their names, is no proof that they are descendants from distinct families.

ARMS.

It is difficult, and in many cases impossible to determine when Arms were granted or for what cause, and the records of the Heralds' Visitations at London do not show the reasons for the particular bearings. In many instances the bearings were probably fanciful, either on the part of the person to whom they were granted, or that of the "Garter King of Arms," by whom they were granted. But in other cases the bearings had reference to the profession, occupation, or name itself, or to some exploit by which the person had made himself distinguished, some heroic deed of daring, as the capture of a castle or an enemy's ship. The reference to such acts would be shown more particularly in the Crests. The Heraldic books contain the description of eight Coats of Arms granted in England to the name of Lock and Locke, and one to that of Loch. Seven have the same principal bearings, three falcons, but somewhat differently arranged in the shield. This similarity shows that those to whom they were granted were all descendants from one original stock, the several arrangements with some slight additions designating different branches.

The Arms which I give stand first in Burke's General Armory, and no date being given, I presume they were those first granted, and probably to Sir William Locke, in the reign of Henry VIII. having reference to his exploit of going to Dunkirk in France, and tearing down the Pope's Bull of Excommunication against the King, a deed which at the present time would not be of much moment, but at that age when the Pope claimed great powers, and who was dreaded and feared by the people, it might require as much moral courage as to storm a castle. The cushion in the crest has reference probably to the Church, either Popish or Protestant, being symbolical thereof, and may be understood to mean, if it referred to the Popish, that he tore it down, or if to the Protestant, that he supported it. In the other crests, the padlock forms a part, and may have had a reference to the name, which was, in heraldry, called "punning," and if, as stated above the arms which are here represented, are those that were first granted to the name of Locke, I think we may reasonably conclude that the padlock was an afterthought, and had no original connection with the name. That they are the oldest, in the absence of any date of their grant, the strongest evidence, according to the best authorities, is that the particular manner in which they are "blazoned" indicates more antiquity, than does the style of blazonry exhibited in the other Arms.

The following Arms are described by Burke and others:

LOCK. (London.) Per fesse az. and or, in chief three falcons volant of the second. Crest—A hand ppr. holding up a cushion or. [See arms below.]

LOCK. (Warnford, Co. Southampton.) (Rouge Dragon, Pursuivant of Arms, granted 1767.) Per fesse az. and or, a pale counterchanged; on the first three falcons rising of the second, colored gu. Crest—A falcon as in the arms, in the beak a padlock pendant sa.

LOCK. (Mildenhall, Co. Suffolk; granted 8 Dec. 1770.) Per fesse az. and or, a pale counterchanged, on the first three falcons rising of the second, ducally crowned az. Crest—A falcon rising or, ducally crowned az. in the beak a padlock pendant sa.

LOCKE or LOKE. Or, three pales az. on a chev. of the last a pair of wings conjoined of the first.

LOCK. (Norbury Park, Co. Surrey.) Per fesse az. and or, a pale and three falcons, two and one with wings addorsed and belled, each holding in the beak a padlock, all counterchanged. Crest—A falcon as in the Arms.

LOCK. Per fesse or and az. a pale counterchanged; three falcons volant of the first. Crest—A falcon with wings endorsed, holding in the mouth a padlock or.

LOCKE. (Granted 5 July, 2 Philip & Mary, and borne by Wadham Locke, of Ashton Gifford, Co. Wilts, Esq., son and heir of the late Wadham Locke, of Rowde Ford House, near Devizes, Esq., M. P.) Per fesse az. and or, a pale counterchanged; three hawks with wings endorsed of the last. Crest—A hawk with wings endorsed, holding in the beak a padlock or.

LOCKE or LOKE. (London.) Or, on a chief az. three falcons jessed and belled or.

LOCH. (Drylaw, Scotland.) Or a saltier engrailed sable, between two swans naiant, in fesse, each in water ppr.

According to the preceding article, the name of Locke was known in England in the time of King Alfred, about the year 880, when the place where a "great man" known by that name, "was called after him Lockstown, or the Town of Locke." As greatness would not be acquired in a day, it is presumable that the family had been known for a considerable period anterior to that time. The name does not stand out prominent in the early or more modern history of England, (excepting in the instance of JOHN, the great philosopher, who stands at the head of greatness and goodness in the ranks of the learned), however it often appears, and connected with events and individuals, which shows that they were of respectable standing. To gratify the curiosity of some, and for a future reference, should any one wish hereafter to make further researches in England, I subjoin a few facts that have been collected, many of them being taken from documents published a few years since under the direction of the "Record Commissioners," by the Government of Great Britain, an incomplete copy having been given by said Government to the New England Historic-Genealogical Society. In many cases, the simple name only, and the date when recorded, is given. The different orthographies are seen.

1198. Eustace Loc.

1203. Ricardus Loc of Witteham, his wid. Letitia, living 1203, when she sues for right of dower.

1230. Johanna, wid. of William de Lok, who was son of Jordan Lok, to whom King John, in 1199, granted right to take tolls of ships on the Thames. William had son Thomas, under age in 1230.

1236. Thomas de Loch.

1250. Gilbert Locke, and William his son, of Co. of Lincoln.

1250. Ricardus Lok', Lucy his wf. and Mabillia her sister, of Co. of Oxford.

1291. Thomas Locke was of Merton.

1313. John Lok was of Scardiburg.

1350. Robert Locke was Vicecomes of Wiltshire.

1359. Berengarius Loc, of Narbonne, with John Bigot, of Biteria, were messengers sent by the States of Senescalcia Carcassiona to the King of France. Edward III. granted them protection in going and returning through and staying in his kingdom, and also to the 10 knights, horsemen and footmen, which composed their retinue.

1395. License was granted by Richard II. to William Lock and John Kenyngdale, Scotch merchants, for exporting goods to Norway.

1412. Complaint was made to the King of England by William Locke and others, merchants of Lenn [Lynn] setting forth that notwithstanding that they had had rights granted them by the King of Norway, Dacia and Sweden, they had been robbed and ill-treated by the merchants of Hanse, and though the King of Sweden had imposed a fine of 1500 marks upon the aggressors, it had never been paid, and their troubles still continued; and that in 1409, a ship was freighted by William Locke and others, of Lenn, for Berne and Wysmer, and the captain of the ship was seized at Berne, and ordered to return to Lenn; and they claimed a redress for their great losses.

Sir William Locke was employed by Henry VIII., having the charge of his commercial affairs "both at home and abroad." In the Cottonian Library, London, are several manuscript letters from him to the King, and to Secretary Cromwell, dated at Antwerp, in 1533-4, 1535 and 1538, relating to some works carrying on at Calais, concerning negotiations with France and about the woollen trade. He was, says Collins, "Particularly employed by Queen Anne Bullen, [Boleyn] privately to gather the Epistles, Gospels and Psalms, from beyond sea, in which he ran great hazard, some having been secretly made away with, for attempting the same thing." He had four wives, (see the chart, p. 358-9,) and twenty or more children, many of which died young. The name of his first wife has been variously given by different writers; some say it was Alice Spence, and others Elizabeth Spencer. Anciently the names of Elizabeth and Alice were convertible, one for the other. The records of the Herald's office, which are the best authority, say that her name was Alice Spence.

In the Cottonian Library is also "a manuscript of many pages," dated 1577, written by "Michael Lok," in which he says he "is son of Sir Wm. Lok, Knight, Alderman of London, that he (Michael) was kept at schools of grammar in Eng. until he was 13, when he was sent over the seas to Flanders and France to learn their languages, and to know the world, since which time he has continued these 32 years to travel in body and mind, following his vocation in the trade of merchandize, passing through many countries, had the charge of and captain of a great ship of more than 1000 tons, three years in divers voyages; and that he has more than 200 sheets of manuscripts of his travels," which he wishes to publish.

In Hakluyt's "Divers Voyages," pub. 1582, is a letter dated 1575, from James Alday to the "Worshipful Mr. Michael Locke, Agent in London for the Muscovie Co." Hakluyt's Voyages also contain a History of Sir Martin Frobisher's Voyage for the discovery of a passage towards Cathay, in 1574, written by Michael Locke, Locke himself being a great adventurer therein."

Hakluyt, in the introduction to his book, speaking of a passage to Cathay, says, "Secondly, that Master John Verazanus, which had been thrice on that coast, in an olde excellent mappe which he gave to King Henrie the eighth, and is yet in the custodie of master Locke," &c. Again. "The mappe is master Michael Locke's, a man for his knowledge in divers languages, and especially in cosmographie, able to do his country good, and worthy in my judgment for the manifolde good partes in him, of good reputation and better fortune." On this map is the following dedication:—"ELLUSTRI VIRO, DOMINO PHILIPPO SIDNAEO MACHAEL LOK CIVIS LONDINENSIS HANC CHARTAM DEDICABAT: 1582." (a)

In 1612, a book called "Peter Martyr de Novo Orbe," &c. &c. in eight decades, was pub. Three of the decades were translated from the Latin, by R. Eden and the others, "by the industrie and painfull travaile of Mr. Lok."

5 July 1 and 2 of Philip and Mary Arms were granted or confirmed to Michael Locke.

John Locke, son of Sir William, was also a traveller; he made a voyage to Jerusalem in 1553, which is to be found in Hakluyt's Voyages. It contains a curious document in Latin, of which the following is a translation:

TO ALL AND EACH who may read the present letter, salutation in our LORD JESUS CHRIST. WE testify to you and to others whoever they may be, how an honorable man, JOHN LOK, the son of an honorable man, WILLIAM LOK, GOLDEN KNIGHT, visited in person the most holy places of the HOLY LAND, viz. the most holy sepulchre of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, from which on the third day he gloriously rose from the dead, the most holy Mount of CALVARY, on which, fastened to the cross, he deigned to die for us all; also, MOUNT SION, where he celebrated that wonderful Supper with his disciples, and where the HOLY SPIRIT, on the holy day of Pentecost, descended with fiery tongues on the same disciples; and OLIVET, the mountain whence he miraculously ascended into heaven; the tomb of the chaste VIRGIN MARY, situated in the midst of the valley of JEHOSAPHAT, and BETHANY also,—BETHLEHEM, the City of DAVID, in which he was born from the most pure VIRGIN MARY, and then was laid in a Manger—and besides other such places as well within as without the city of JERUSALEM, in the HOLY LAND OF JUDEA, as are customarily visited by modern travellers, he most devoutly visited, and in like manner worshipped. In attestation of which, I, brother ANTHONY, of BERGAMOS, of the order of younger brothers belonging to the regular attendance, Vicar, (perchance unworthy), of the Convent of MOUNT SION, in the province of the godlike SAINT ANTHONY, also by apostolical authority, a commissary and rector of other places in the HOLY LAND, have willed that this certificate should be confirmed by the greater seal of our office, and by our subscription.

Given at the most holy chamber of the LORD, on the often memorable MOUNT SION, in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and fifty-three, on the sixth day of the month of September.

BROTHER ANTHONY, AS ABOVE.

In 1554, "A voyage to Guinea was set out by Sir George Barne, Sir John Yorke, Thomas Locke [son of Sir William] Anthonie Hickman [who m. Rose, dau. of Sir William] and Edward Casteline, the Captain whereof was Mr. John Locke [son of Sir William]. It consisted of two ships of seven score tons each, and one of ninety tons." A history of this voyage is to be found in Hakluyt, by J. Locke.

Henry Lock, prob. gr. son of Sir William, was employed by Queen Elizabeth; letters of "instructions" to him in 1592 are in the Cottonian Library.

Thomas Locke was connected with the Court of James I.

Thomas Locke, of Merton.—Lyson, in his Environs of London, says, that "Edward III. granted the Rectory of Merton belonging to a former Abbey of that name to Thomas Locke, about 1291." Here is an error, evidently, as the reign of Edward III. did not begin till 1327. Manning, in his History of the County of Surrey, within which is Merton, says of Merton Place, "Near the church is a large old mansion, which has been known from time immemorial by the name of Merton Place. In the year 1499, John Locke and Jane his wife, became possessed of it, [prob. by inheritance] in whose family it continued until the year 1646, when John, a remote descendant of John above, (and whose ancestors had in the meantime purchased the Impropriation of the Rectory in 7 of Edward VI.) conveyed it together with the Impropriation to Catherine, sometime wife of Rowland Wilson of the Parish, but late [wife] of John Highland, alderman of London."

From another source, not now recollected, I gather the following: "In the time of Henry VIII. the Locke family possessed the Estate of Merton Hall. Thomas Locke, Esq. was minister of Merton. In 7 of Edward VI. (1552-3) the King by his letters patent dated 14 March, in consideration of the sum of £359 granted unto Thomas Locke and Mary his wife forever, the Rectory of the Church of Merton with the appurtenances, late parcel of the possessions of the dissolved priory of Merton, to be holden of the King, his heirs and successors, as of his manor of East Greenwich, in free socage and not in chief. On 29 Oct. 1643, John Locke and Jane his wife mortgaged (and in 1646 conveyed the equity of redemption of) the Rectory with all the houses, &c. to Catherine Highlord, the wid. of John Highlord, an alderman of London."

There seems to be some discrepancy in the dates, which may possibly be reconciled in this way, viz. that a portion of the premises may have been granted in 1291, and the remainder at a subsequent period. I think it is evident that they belonged to the Lockes before 1552, as the second wife of Sir William Locke was buried there Oct. 14, 1537, and Sir William himself 1550. The fact that his wife was buried there, and the similarity of Christian names, leads me to suppose that Sir William was descended from the Thomas Locke who was at Merton, 1291.

Merton Place subsequently became the property of Lord Nelson, who bequeathed it to the lady of Sir William Hamilton. [See Lyson's Environs of London.]

Nicholas Lock, merchant, was the lessee in 1694, of the property now known as Chesterfield House, near Greenwich Park, which he held under the crown. Philip, Earl of Chesterfield, afterwards resided there. [See Lyson's Environs of London.]

Zacharias Lok, Oct. 24, 1597, erected a monument in Christ's Church, Greenwich, to the memory of his wife Dorothy, who d. Feb. 24, 1596, the dau. of James Brampton, of Brampton, Norfolk. Henry, her son, was also buried beside her.

"In the Parish Church of St. Mary Bow, London, is a monument to John Locke one of the sheriffs of London, 1461." [See Stow's Survey of London.] He was gr. father of Sir William.

"In Mercer's Chapel, Cheapside, London, is a monument to John Locke, 1519." He was prob. bro. of Sir William; left no issue. [Same.]

In same Church is a Monument to Sir William himself, 1550; "with his Arms in the window." Both of these churches were destroyed in the great fire of 1666. [Same.]

Prudentia, with her three sons and co-heirs, in gavelkind, Robert, Thomas and Henry, in 1723 sold the estate to Sir Roger Meredith, of Leeds Abbey, Gent. The above Thomas, Senr. was buried in Rochester Cathedral, and bore for his Arms—Parted per fesse azure and or, a pale counterchanged, three falcons volant of the 2d. [Hasted's History of Kent.]

In the Ch. at Askerswell is a monument to William Locke, Senr, Rector of that Ch.; b. Dec. 26, 1634, d. Ap. 22, 1686, and to his son William, Jr. Rector of Askerswell and Chilcomb, b. June 5, 1674, d. May 8, 1722; son and gr. son of the Rev. John Locke, of Askerswell.

Daniel Locke, Fellow of Trinity Coll d. 1754; his monument is on the west wall of the Chapel.

Elizabeth Judith, dau. of Robert Locke, of Dinton, in Wilts, m. Edward Ashby, who was b. 1690, and d. 1775; their son, Rev. George Ashby, B. D. and F. A. S. was Rector of Barrow, b. 1724, d. 1808; there is a monument to his memory in the Ch. at Barrow. [Gage's His. of Suffolk.]

William, son of Major William Locke, was buried at Southwark, Parish of St. George, Jany. 7, 1667.

In All Saints Ch. Tottenham, Lon. is a monument to the memories of Richard Chandler, Esq. 1602—Elizabeth, his wf. dau. and sole heir of Matthew Locke, 2d son of Sir Wm. Locke, 1622—Sir Ferdinand Heyborne, Gentleman of the Privy Chamber to Queen Elizabeth and James I. 1618—and Anne, his wf. dau. and heir of Richard Chandler, 1615.

Thomas Locke was Mayor of High Wycombe, in Bucks, in time of Charles I. [Lipscomb's His. of Bucks.]

Zachary Locke was mem. of Parliament for Southwark in 1700.

Mrs. Elizabeth Locke, an "Ancient Maid of Honor," d. Feb. 1710-11, a. 106.

Samuel Locke was one of the Commissioners of Lieutenancy, in London, 1707.

Matthew Locke, a native of Exeter, was an eminent English Composer of Music in Ordinary to Charles II. for whose public entry into London at the Restoration he furnished the Music. He is known as the first who ever published rules on thorough base in Eng. contained in a work, entitled "Melothesia." He acquired great reputation for the composition of the music for Shakespeare's and other tragedies, and subsequently was Organist for Queen Catherine II. of Portugal; and it is represented that he became a papist, of which there is some doubt. He d. 1677.

Queen Elizabeth, in 1573, granted her "dearly beloved Chaplain, Nicholas Locke, Master of Arts, and Rector of the Parishes of St. Mary Trimley, St. Martin, Trimley, and of Harksted, in Suffolk, license to remove and absent himself from any one of said Rectorships."

George Lock by will, when not known, gave interest of £20 for the poor of the parish of All Saints in Dorsetshire.

In the Gentlemen's Magazine, vol. 69, 1799, it is stated that about 1630 several persons of the name of Locke resided at Pool, in Somersetshire, who were chiefly commanders of merchant ships, and had landed property near Salisbury and Hindon, that in Particular Robert Locke was one of this family, and gave precisely the same arms as John Locke; he lived at Berwick, St. Leonards, and Dinton, in Wiltshire, and d. 1706, and was buried at Dinton. This may have been the Capt. Robert Locke, commander of the ship Speedwell, of London, who in 1656, was prosecuted by the government of Massachusetts for having brought Quakers into the country, and was imprisoned in Boston. Oct. 14, 1656, he petitioned the Gen. Court that he may have a full hearing. I believe he was fined and forced to carry the Quakers back. [See Mass. Archives, vol. 10, pp. 235-237.] Capt. — Locke was master of the ship Globe which sailed from Boston for London Dec. 1655, and Hull, in his diary under date of Aug. 1665, says "my returns likewise by Capt. Locke went safe."

JOHN LOCKE, "GENT."

The fame and character of JOHN LOCKE, commonly called "the great philosopher and metaphysician," are too well known to require a more extended notice. For nearly two centuries the whole civilized world has acknowledged him as one of its greatest luminaries. The names of Locke, Newton, and Bacon, have long been associated as standing at the head of those great minds, whose labors in science and literature have enlightened the world. Of Locke, it may be said that he was not great only in one particular branch of learning, for his mind was capable of grasping and mastering every thing. Metaphysics, religion, and the science of government were all handled by him equally well. Free from ambition (a) and the love of wealth, rocks on which so many have been shipwrecked, he lived a long life, honored by all, and left behind him a character on which no stain could be found. His private and his public life were both equally pure. In the political changes of the day, when kings were made and unmade, he suffered political persecution, and was obliged in 1682 with many others to quit his country for safety, and he was deprived of his privileges at Oxford College by the arbitrary command of the King, in defiance of the rights of the College itself. After several years' absence, at the solicitation of William Penn, the King offered him a pardon, which was accompanied with gracious words of good will; but this he refused to accept, with this noble reply, that "he was ignorant of the crimes of which he had been declared guilty." At the revolution, however, he returned to England, and was honored by appointment to several offices, and he continued in office some years, and until his health became so impaired that he could not live in London only a few days at a time, when he sent in his resignation; on which the king sent for him, and proposed that he should retain his office and receive the emoluments, attending only occasionally, and leaving the duties to be performed by his deputies. Here again he exhibited the purity of his character by the memorable reply, "that he could not think of receiving pay for labor that he did not perform," (a) an example that is rarely followed in modern times, the practice being even in our republican country to receive all that can be obtained from the government.

All the English writers whose works I have consulted, seem to have been almost entirely ignorant of his pedigree. Even Lord King, his nephew, who was to a great extent educated by him, and who published an edition of his works, merely says that "He was the son of J. Locke, who was descended from the Lockes of Charter Court, in Dorsetshire. That his father, who was a Captain in the army of the Parliament, possessed a moderate landed property in Pensfold, [it should have been Pensford] and Bellerton, where he lived; that his fortune became so much impaired in the civil wars that he left a smaller estate to his son than he himself inherited." According to the Gent. Magazine, (see p. 344,) Capt. Locke was the son of Christopher, of Pilrow, in Somersetshire, but in the memoirs prefixed to the edition of the works of his son, pub. in London in 1801, it is said he was the son of Nicholas, of Suttentick, in the parish of Chew-Magna, which is near Pensford, in Somersetshire. He was an Attorney, as well as a Captain, and officiated as "Steward or Court-keeper" to Col. Popham, who owned large possessions in the vicinity. Several authorities say that he was killed in battle, at or near Bristol, in 1645, and this seems to have been the prevailing opinion; but Lord King, in speaking of a letter written by John to his father, Capt. Locke, says, "It is without date, but was probably written before 1660." This remark would indicate that the father was living in 1660. Another writer says he was living at the restoration (1660), and was appointed Clerk of the Sewers. As the writer in the Gentleman's Magazine says he copies his pedigree from the record of the parish where Capt. Locke was a Church Warden, we must suppose his statement to be the most reliable, and if so, that he was the son of Christopher.

Equally contradictory are historians as to whom the wife of Capt. Locke was. Lord King, I think, does not name her. In the edition of Locke's works before named, published in 1801, in the memoir prefixed, it is said that Capt. Locke married Ann, the dau. of Edmund Keen or Ken, of Wrington; while on the other hand, the Rev. Joseph Hunter, in his article relating to the emigrants from Suffolk, (Eng.) to New England, which was pub. in the Mass. His. Society's Collections, says on the authority of Candler, a great antiquarian of England, and who left voluminous manuscripts, containing pedigrees of many families, that — Bernard, who was the farmer of an estate of Custridge Hall, which he held of Lord Chief Justice Coke, married a dau. of Robert and Sibil Fisk, and that Bernard had a dau. who was the mother of John Locke. Mr. Hunter is disposed to think Candler good authority, because Bernard was Candler's grand-uncle. Yet doubts may be entertained, for Mr. Hunter himself, who ranks high as a learned antiquarian, in this very article, makes a statement which shows that he is ignorant of what some of us even in New England have learned. He says "that little is known of Locke's father, but no one who has written on his life, has had the slightest knowledge of the mother." In contradiction of this statement, it is only necessary to refer to the memoir from which I have before quoted, prefixed to the edition of Locke's works, pub. 1801, where the writer knew, or pretended to know, that she was the dau. of Edmund Keen or Ken. I notice this that my readers may see how easy it is for writers to be mistaken, hoping that they will be charitable to the many errors that they may find in this unpretending volume.

(a) Mr. Locke was afterwards reproached for not having made interest for some of his friends to succeed to the office, or at least to inform them of his intended resignation of it. "I know," said he, in answer to one of his relations who reproached him on this subject; "I know what you tell me very well, but that was the very reason why I would not communicate my intention to any one. I received my commission generously from the king himself, and to him I resolved to restore it, that he might have the pleasure of bestowing it on some man worthy of his bounty."

I have before assumed that Candler was probably right, and that Locke's mother was a Bernard, and his statement seems to receive support from the association of the names of Matthew Barnard, (which I presume was only another way of spelling Bernard,) with the name of William Locke in Nicholas Davie's Will, on the presumption that there was a connection between William Locke and the family of John Locke.

The "progeny" of three of the sons of Robert Fisk, before named, emigrated to New England, as did several other puritan families with whom they were connected. So says Mr. Hunter on the authority of Candler, and goes on to say, as I have mentioned in another place, that "The mother of Locke must have been brought up among the more zealous puritans of the counties of Essex and Suffold, (England), that she must have heard from her infancy stories of religious persecutions, that she must have seen near connections of her family leaving their native home, to find as they supposed, security and peace in a distant land; and the feelings thus engendered in her mind we may easily believe to have been communicated to her son, who in due time became the great defender of the principle of the utmost tolerance, in dealing with men in affairs of conscience and religious opinion."

The conflicting statements with regard to the family of the wife of Capt. Locke may be reconciled by supposing that he may have been twice married, a fact unknown to the different writers. It is to be hoped that these remarks may induce further inquiries, which may throw more light upon the subject.

All authorities agree that John Locke, the subject of this sketch, was born while the mother was from home in a small cottage in Wrington, in Somersetshire, Aug. 29, 1632. An exception to this, however, as to the date, is a most interesting article originally published in the London Athenæum, and which was afterwards copied into the Living Age, No. 341, p. 424, entitled, "The Grave of Locke." The date of his birth, taken from his tomb, is printed A. D. "1631." This may be a typographical error. Wrington is a small town not far from Bristol, and in the immediate vicinity of Pensford, Bedminster, Pilrow, and several other places where many of the Lockes resided.

Mr. Locke was never married, and after his retirement from public life he became the inmate of the family of Sir Francis and Lady Masham, at their seat at Oates, in Essex, and here he passed the remainder of an invalid life in the cultivation of his mind, and in the composition of many of his admirable works. Lady Masham, who was the dau. of the Rev. Dr. Ralph Cudworth, of Oxford, was a woman of a congenial mind, highly intellectual, and herself a writer. The friendship that existed between them, says one, "must have rested on similarity of tastes and feelings, and perfect confidence. The noble woman who administered to him his last consolation, was like himself calm and possessed, in that last scene which united the serenity of the antique sage with the pious resignation of the Christian saint. After passing without sleep the night which he had not expected to survive, he was taken out of bed and carried into his study, where he slept for some hours in his chair. On waking he desired to be dressed; and then heard Lady Masham read the Psalms, apparently with great attention, until perceiving his end to draw near, he stopped her, and expired a few minutes afterwards."

Thus ended the life of this eminent man, Oct. 27, 1704, a. 72. He was buried at the Church at High Laver, in Essex, near Oates, about 20 miles from London. Against the south wall of the Church is a square raised tomb covered with a slab, on which is inscribed, "JOHN LOCKE, Ob. A. D. 1704." Above the tomb is a marble tablet bearing the Latin inscription written by himself. Here follows a translation:

"Stop, traveller! Near this place lieth John Locke. If you ask what kind of a man he was, he answers that he lived content with his own small fortune. Bred a scholar, he made his learning subservient only to the cause of truth. This thou wilt learn from his writings, which will show thee every thing else concerning him, with greater truth, than the suspected praises of an epitaph. His virtues, indeed, if he had any, were too little for him to propose as matter of praise to himself, or as an example to thee. Let his vices be buried together. As to an example of manners, if you seek that, you have it in the Gospel; of vices, I wish you may have one nowhere; if mortality, certainly, (and may it profit thee,) thou hast one here and every where."

I cannot close with any thing more beautiful than an extract from a Poem on the Progress of Science, delivered at Harvard College, Ap. 21, 1780, by the Hon. Samuel Dexter.

"In Metaphysics, too, a LOCKE we find,
Unfolding the recesses of the mind,
Teaching mankind the great Creator's plan;
Yet less admire the author than the man.
Great in himself, he could with pleasure leave
The tinsel'd greatness that a Court can give,
Refuse a place—a pension, and retire,
From glitt'ring pomp, to fan celestial fire."

SIR JOHN BRAMSTON.

The following, though in part a repetition of what has gone before, contains some additional facts, and is so interesting, as coming direct from Rose, the dau. of Sir William Locke, I cannot avoid the inclination to publish it.

It is from the Autobiography of Sir John Bramston, which was written between the years 1670 and 1699, but not published until 1845. Sir John Bramston was the gr. gr. gr. son of Sir William Locke. He was b. 1611, the son of Sir John Bramston, of Boreham, Knight, Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench, who was b. May 18, 1577, and m. Bridget, dau. of Sir Thomas Moundeford, M. D. of London, who m. Mary, dau. of Richard Hill, mercer of London, who m. Elizabeth, the "20th" child of Sir William Locke.

"The said Thomas Moundeford married Mary Hill, one of the daus. of Richard Hill, of London, by Elizabeth Lock, the twentieth child of Sir William Lock, the famous citizen Alderman and Lord Maior (a) of London, of whome I think fitt here to insert the storie as I find it wreten by one of his daughters, Rose, married first to Anthony Hickman, merchant aduenturer, from whom is descended the now Earle of Plymouth, and soe is the alliance betweene our families, he beinge descended of one daughter, and myself from another of Sir William Lock, but his tytle to Lord Windsor came by a marriage in that familie; her second husband was Throgmorton of Brampton in Huntingdonsheire, esquire. I find it in wast paper in her Bible, which hath binn carefully preserued by the females in the familie acording to her order, and is now in the hands of my sister Lady Palmer, beinge giuen her by the aforementioned Mary, her and my Grandmother. The storie is (as I find it) thus: In the 25th yeare of King Henry the 8th, that was 1530, William Lock, citizen and Mercer of London, beinge in Dunkirke when a curse (interdiction, I suppose) was sett vp by the Pope's messinger or nuncio, against the King and Kingdom, in fauor and at the request of Queene Katharine, Mr. Lock beinge then there, he tooke it downe, (soe farr, sayes she, goes Hollinshead; but his daughter Rose adds) for which seruice the Kinge gaue him 100 pounds a yeare, and knighted him, and soe (says she) he was the first, that, beinge a Knight, was sheriff of London. He had alsoe the speciall fauor of the Kinge, to haue a key to his priuie chamber, to come to him when he would. The Kinge dined at his house, he being the King's mercer. And she tells this storie, (I meane Rose that wrote the Memoires;) she says, that, in the tyme of her first husband, Anthony Hickman, after the death of Edward the Sixth, Queen Mary changinge the relligion, her husband and her elder brother Thomas Lock, beinge merchants and partners, they liued to geather and sheltred manie of the godlie preachers in their house; but the Queene inioyninge all to come to mass, and persecutinge the refusers, they were forced to let them goe, giuing them monie; she mentions Hooper, Fox, Knox, and one Reinger, for which her husband and brother beinge questiond, before the commissioners, (she calls them high commissioners,) were committed close prisoners to the Fleete, and then shee tells how they gott out; after which she says her husband went to Antwerpe, tooke a house there at 40 pounds rent, sent for her, but she being with child could not goe, but went into Oxfordshire to a gentleman's house, but she names him not, but thincks the house was called Childwell, wher she was deliuered; names not the child, nor whether male or female; but says she went to Cranmer, Latimer, and Ridlie, prisoners then in Oxford, to know whether she might christen her child in the Popish manner. They answered her that baptisme was the least corrupted in that church, and therefore she might, but sayd she should haue gone away before, for the child was baptised by a Popish preist, but she says she put sugar instead of salt into the handkercher which was to be deliuered vnto the priest, after which she went to Antwerpe to her husband, left 2 houses of her husband's, well furnished, one in London, another at Rumford, taking noething but one feather bed, Whilst she was at Antwerpe she had another child, which with great care she procured to be baptised after the reformed manner by a Protestant minister, which was done thus: The fashion was to hange a peece of lawne out at the window where a child was to be baptised; and her house hauinge two dores into two streetes, she hunge lawne out at each dore, soe the neighbours of each side, thinckinge the child was carried out at the other dore, inquired no farther; the hasard she rann was great, for she says, that in the hatred which was borne by the townsmen to the Anabaptists, the magistrates used to come at midnight into houses where any children were suspected to be kept vn baptised, and if they found any such they vsed to putt them into a sack and threw them into the sea and drowne them, which crueltie to auoid, she did, as is before sayd, hange out the lawne, and there beinge a secret congregation of Protestants in the Towne, she procured her child to be carried thither, where it was baptised, she not knowing who were godfathers or godmothers. She continued in Antwerpe to the death of Queene Mary; she died at Gainesborough 21 November 1613, in the 87th yeare of her age. And this is all I find of her in these memoires collected and made by her selfe and sister.

"Elisabeth Lock was the 20th child of Sir William Lock, which is testified by a note written by himselfe in the said Bible. She was borne in Milk Streete, London, the 3d day of August, 1535. She had 2 husbands, beinge first married to Richard Hill, with whome she liued 18 yeares, and had by him 13 children; she continued a widow one yeare and a quarter, and then married [Nicholas] Bullingham, bishop of Worcester, and had one child by him. Hill died at Newington Greene, Sep. 1568; shee was very younge when she married Hill, for she was but 20 yeares old when she went with her husband into the Low Countries to Antwerpe; and yet she had then 4 children; she had five in Antwerpe. She hath not mentioned the names of all her children. What I find of them in that memoire is thus: her eldest daughter, Katharine Hill, was married to Dr. Goad; she was baptised 23 April, 1554; of her was borne Dr. Goad, one of the diunes sent by King James I. vnto the Synod of Dort. Martha, the 2nd daughter married to Luke Smyth, Clerke; she was baptised 8th of September, 1560; she dyed at Worcester, 1593. Rowland, baptised 16th October, 1561. I thincke he had no issue male, but he had a daughter married to Mr. ——— Munday. Mary, baptised 5th of June, 1562; she married Dr. Moundeford, from whome I am descended. Elizabeth, borne at Antwerpe the yeare before Queene Mary died, [1557]; she married with Edward Archbold, at Worcester. Otwell, borne alsoe at Antwerpe, the first yeare of Queene Elizabeth, [1558.] Ann, baptised 1566; married to Andros, I guess, parson of Chesterton. . . .

"I find Sir William Lock had a daughter married into Cornewell, for Otwell Hill went into Cornewell to his aunt, eldest sister to his mother; she is not named either by her husband's name or her owne Christen name, but I gues her husband's name was Cuswroth, for I remember one of that name that was clerke to my father, whome we called cousen."

Here ends the History of the Lockes in England. Many of the facts have a peculiar interest to those of the name in America, and go to show when the family was first known, and in what parts of the country they resided, and their occupation or profession. Like many of the early merchants of England, some of them were mariners, commanding their own ships and trading to different parts of the world. A thorough examination of the County and Town histories of England, which are very full of pedigrees, would undoubtedly give a vast number of additional particulars; and what appears in the preceding pages will be something of a guide as to where further information should be sought, and that was the principal object for inserting many of the items.
